D.C. Tax Rates Show Big Difference

By MONTE DAYTON

PROPERTY OWNERS in Daly City may be paying over $100 a year more in taxes than their neighbors who own homes with almost identical valuation.

Mailing of property tax bills to 38,920 property owners in Daly City, Pacifica and South San Francisco was completed October 20.

The unusual situation wherein combined tax rates within the city of Daly City vary from a low of $7.48 to a high of $9.58 per $100 of assessed valuation was uncovered in an extensive survey by The Post.

THIS SIZABLE difference of $2.10 per $100 valuation, when applied to two homes, each with a $20,000 market value, or $5,000 assessed valuation under the new 25 per cent assessment formula, means that the Daly City property owner with the higher rate will be paying $479 per year in taxes, as against $375 per year for the other homeowner.

There are two basic reasons for the great difference in tax rates within a single city's limits:

1. All the newly annexed Serramonte district south of Hickey Boulevard falls within the South San Francisco Unified School District, which has a substantially lower tax rate than the combined Jefferson Elementary-Jefferson High School districts. The differential in rates amounts to $1.14 per $100.

2. Many parcels of property recently annexed to Daly City are being "double-taxed for services such as police and fire protection and lighting.

ALTHOUGH THE homeowners receive, and pay for, these services from the city of Daly City, they continue to pay taxes to special districts because the necessary steps to remove their property from these special taxing entities were not taken.

The combination of the duplicate taxation and the higher combined school tax rate could add up to a hefty $2.10 per $100 higher combined tax rate, or more than $100 extra taxes per year for the less fortunate Daly City dweller.

Actually, there is only one parcel of land in Daly City that has the minimum total rate of $7.48 per $100 assessed valuation.

This is an 85.6-acre parcel owned by the Suburban Realty Co. which is located opposite Buri Buri, west of Junipero Serra in the new Serramonte subdivision.

THE UNIMPROVED land is currently assessed at $191,800, or about $2,250 per acre, but, when developed, should be valued at about 20 times that amount per acre, figuring on the basis of seven homes per acre, each assessed at $5,000 each. The figure will be much higher if the land is developed for commercial or multiple dwelling use.

There are other areas, however, housing single-family residences where the tax rate differential within the city presents almost as sharp a contrast.

ONE EXAMPLE is the new Southern Hills development in the northeastern corner of Daly City, adjoining San Francisco, with a rate per $100 of $7.62, nearly $2 below the city's maximum.

CTA PROTESTS

Jeff Board Fails To Agree on Plan

Despite the protests of representatives of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association, trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School Board failed to agree on a proposal to provide a choice of health plans at a meeting of the board Monday night.

Vincent Amendola, field representative of the California Teachers' Association, told the Board that practically all other districts have given employes the choice of a plan. "I think you owe it to them," he said. "You have to find out what they want."

Mike Pennings, president of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association, in an interview after Monday's meeting, described what he termed was the two-year effort of his group to obtain a choice of health plans.

He said he felt that no mode factual information was needed by the beard and agreed with Vern Mara, chairman of the Professional Relations Commit-

Duty-Free Lunch Hours Clarified

A new policy of duty-free lunch hours for teachers, previously approved by the board of trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District, was further clarified at a meeting of the board Monday night.

Representatives of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association questioned whether it was the intent of the board to have a duty-free lunch in the district since most district schools do not yet have noon-

D.C. Chamber Sets Dinner

Fourteen past presidents of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce will be honored Saturday night at the Olympic Club.

David Friedenberg's reign as president will conclude with the installation of Edward Morgan and a slate of four other newly elected officers at the dinner dance event, which has been a sell-out for more than two weeks.

In addition to the installation rites, the social function will serve as a past presidents' night, honoring the 13 men who have headed the chamber over that period of years.

A capacity crowd of 127 people have made reservations for the festive annual event, according to Peter Markovich, executive secretary of the C of C.

The affair will start with a cocktail hour at 7 p.m. followed by dinner at 8 p.m. Mayor Frank Pacelli will be master of ceremonies. Arrangements for the dinner have been handled by U. R. (Jack) Kendree, chairman.

The slate of officers and directors for the 1965-66 year will be: Morgan, president; John Wuerthner, first vice president; Don Monson, second vice president; William J. Sweeney Jr., treasurer; Charles Maroosis, secretary; Bernard Lycett, Mona Baker, Ben Peralta, Ramona Birke, Vincent Murphy, Fred Martin, Sadie Cardellini, Tom Coyne, Frank Curry, Kendree, Joseph Rohl, Herb Sharpe and Armando Zirpoli, directors.

Grid Game Prize Cash Hits $200

The Post-Times Football Contest enters its eighth week with the prize money for a perfect entry advancing to $200 cash.

Last week the best any entrant could do was pick 12 games correctly out of the total of 15. Winner of two free tickets to the California-Stanford "Big Game" was Joe Burns of San Mateo, an airlines employe.

Don Colhour of South San Francisco was among seven runners-up who picked outcome of 11 games accurately.

Fans will be competing for the $200 award this week, along with a $50 bonus for subscribers to The Times. Contest deadline is this Thursday midnight.

An official entry blank, along with a convenient order blank for those interested in subscribing to The Times daily newspaper, appears on Page 40.

UNHAPPY SUBURBS

Hickey Extension Delay Is Rapped

Not all is happiness in the Western suburbs, South San Francisco City Councilmen relearned last night as their regular meeting was doubled in length by complaining citizens.

Representatives of the Winston Manor area made several comments related to extension of Hickey Boulevard as an east-west county freeway, and one resident repeatedly asked the council to "act in good faith."

John Pene, 116 Dunman Way, pleaded with the Council to stick by their pledges in finding a new park site to replace the one taken by the county for its freeway extension.

Bill Boldenweck, 105 Dunman Way, reported that the Winston Manor Community Association has named a committee to meet with city officials regarding selection of a new park site.

City Manager Eugene Aiello reported that a staff meeting was scheduled for today, to discuss just that problem.

Pene also complained that the county's roadway is apparently going to "take" another home, in addition to the half-dozen already eliminated.

Aiello confirmed this, saying the home in question would be reduced to occupancy of a substandard sized lot and that it seems better to eliminate the plot as a homesite.

Another resident, Vic Boido, complained that the downtown trees are producing great crops of leaves and berries, and are not really "the right kind of trees" for a main street. Councilmen reminded him that he had been on the Council when the trees were selected. Boido admitted that, but said times

D.C. Magician Attempts to Contact Spirit of Houdini

A Daly City magician was one of 13 who attempted unsuccessfully early Monday morning to contact the spirit of Harry Houdini.

The 13 members of the Redwood Empire Assembly 70 of the Society of American Magicians sat around a table deep in the dungeon of horrors at the Wax Museum at Fisherman's Wharf at midnight on Hallowe'en to attempt the seance.

Included among them were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hansen of Daly City. The seance was conducted by William Alstrand of San Jose, a professional magician and long-time friend of

Two-Family Subdivision Is Approved

Neighbors Ask About Design

The Daly City Planning Commission last week approved a re-zoning application for a 22-lot subdivision south of Velasco Avenue between Oriente and Schwerin Streets after informing a group of neighboring San Francisco residents that Daly City did not have any architectural design control over new construction.

Representatives of the Geneva Terrace Homeowners Association said they were not opposed to the subdivision, which would comprise two-family houses, but were concerned whether the development would harmonize with their Eichler-built homes.

The association also asked whether utilities for the development would be placed underground as they are in the Eichler subdivision.

Commission member Melvin Taylor said Daly City did not have an architectural review board and had no jurisdiction over the architectural design of buildings except that they must conform to all codes, ordinances and other city requirements.

Arthur Reschke, city engineer, said that requiring the developer of the proposed subdivision to install underground utilities would be imposing a hardship—particularly since neighboring Daly City homes are served by utility poles.

The application to rezone the area for two-family homes from the present status as a one-family area was filed by Primo R. Repetto of San Francisco.

He said all buildings would face Oriente and Schwerin Streets.

He also noted that utility poles had been planned for the front of the lots but that the developer would be willing to place them in the rear.

In approving the rezoning, the commission noted that the proposed two-family area will provide a transition between adjacent single family homes, an industrial area and the Eichler community.

In other action, the commission asked its staff to recommend a minimum height for a billboard on San Jose Avenue, 75 feet north of Bepler Street, that the owner is seeking to have raised an additional 10 feet.

Reschke said the present sign is 26 feet high and that the additional 10 feet would project it "far above" an adjacent building that is 14 feet high.

The sign applicant, Foster and Kleiser of Oakland, also has applied for a permit to erect an additional sign on the opposite of the existing sign.

David Bond, a representative of the company, said the added height for the old sign is needed for what he said was complete viewing by southbound traffic on San Jose up to a point 50 feet from the sign.

Commission members replied

FOR COUNCILMEN

County Cities Urged to Pass New Pay Laws

Councilmen of San Mateo County were urged to adopt ordinances made possible by recent state legislation that will give them salaries based on population when they met Friday night at the monthly gathering of the Peninsula Council of Mayors in Redwood City.

Councilman Robert Garvey of San Mateo, pointing out that his city is not affected by the new law which applies to general law municipalities and not chartered cities such as San Mateo, suggested laws be passed before the forthcoming April council elections in the county. San Mateo does not have a municipal election next year.

It was noted that impetus for the new law came from local officials, and the mayors said it was first suggested by Councilman Andrew Rocca of South San Francisco and sponsored by Assemblyman Leo Ryan, a former councilman in that city.

Such an ordinance has already been passed in Menlo Park, and Mayor James Fox of Pacifica said his city provided for council salaries in the coming budget.

"I intend to have this ordinance adopted early in January, long before the threat of battle in April," Fox explained.

Mayor Wallace Benson of Belmont noted wryly that the new law may make councilmen ineligible for the federal poverty program.

Vice Mayor Joseph Judge of San Carlos, a member of the bay front committee of the county regional planning committee, urged cities who have not presented bay front plans to the committee do so before tomorrow when the committee begins deliberations.

Although he presented Councilman Don Risso of San Bruno, chairman of the mayors' council, a list of cities who had submitted plans and those who had not, he specifically did not list them.

Risso, however, read the list, which included Burlingame, Menlo Park, San Mateo and San Carlos as those cities submitting plans, and Millbrae, Redwood City, South San Francisco and Brisbane as those who have not.

Mayor Benson said no Bay fill will be permitted, however, without the approval of local jurisdictions.

Jury Acquits S.S.F. Woman

A jury of six men and six women last week acquitted a South San Francisco woman of a charge of soliciting an act of prostitution.

Beverly J. Correa, defended by attorney Gerald Regan, was judged "not guilty" in the South San Francisco Municipal Court of Judge F. J. DeLarios. Asst. District Attorney Al Haverty was prosecutor.

Police had charged that a misdemeanor had been committed May 28, 1965 and the prosecution brought forth two police officers as witnesses.

AT FRESNO MEET

Lantos Speaks At J.C. Meeting

California's public junior colleges are not getting enough state financial support, but they should beware of the temptation to help make up for that shortage by reaching out too eagerly for the millions of dollars in federal funds newly available to them.

Those two points were hammered home—in the forms of an appeal and a warning — to more than 500 delegates to the fall conference of the California Junior College Association which was held in Fresno.

The appeal came from Dr. Thomas P. Lantos, of Millbrae, professor of economics at San Francisco State College and director of international programs for the California state college system.

Dr. Lantos, featured banquet speaker during the annual three-day meeting of junior college trustees, administrators and faculty members from throughout the state, declared the junior colleges "cannot possibly" accomplish the ambitious jobs assigned them under the California Master Plan for Higher Education without greater state backing.

The master plan, he reminded the delegates, calls on the junior colleges to provide lower-division education to some two-thirds of all of California's students, to offer a wide variety of technical vocational specialties and to satisfy much of the huge need for adult education.

In order for the junior colleges to discharge these responsibilities, the master plan envisions state financing of 45 per cent of the budgets, with almost all of the remainder to be made up by local taxation.

At present, however, state support amounts to only about half of that amount.

"The master plan simply cannot work," said Dr. Lantos, "unless this situation is remedied for the junior colleges and, incidentally, unless added support also is given the state colleges."

have changed.

"They might have been all right when we had the horse and buggies," he said, "but they are a shame, now."

Councilmen referred the request to the City's Park Director, to see if anything can be done about uprooting the 15 to 20-year-old trees and replacing them.

They had already approved formation of a parks and parkways maintenance district for the West Park Area, adopted an ordinance permitting pay for city councilmen, and approved several planning commission actions.

policy and goals of the society.

After the films, Fine answered questions from the audience.

In response to one question, he said he believed the race riots in the Watts area of Los Angeles earlier this year could be attributed to poverty among residents rather than, as the questioner charged, to Communist agitators.

Fine said that the nation's press had printed a lot of what he termed "mis-information" about the society to date.

Tot Wanders Away, Killed In Westlake

A young mother was searching for her lost two-year-old son in the Westlake Shopping Center last week when she heard the ominous sound of a siren.

Mrs. Ronald Nonis, 21, 4221 Moraga Street, San Francisco, hurried outside.

She followed the siren and found the crumpled body of her son on the nearby freeway. The boy, Ronald, was dead on arrival at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, South San Francisco.

He had wandered away from his mother as she shopped in a drugstore at 9:20 p.m. and toddled out onto busy Alemany Boulevard some 200 feet east of Lake Merced Boulevard.

A sedan in the fast eastbound lane hit him. There were no skid marks.

Police said driver of the car was Justin W. Zakis, 21, of 35 Ponceta Drive, Daly City. He was not cited.

time lay supervisors to relieve teachers.

Frank Greenwood, district superintendent, told the board that $25,920 would be the cost of the duty-free program.

He said the funds would provide for the program for the rest of the school year. He added that all the other arguments in favor of the issue were as valid as before.

In other business, the board authorized 45 to 60 substitute teachers as needed, and passed a classified salary schedule, agreed to hire two speech therapists and asked for additional information about the establishment of a city school district.

A pilot study in spelling conducted by Parris Simmons, a teacher, was approved by the board. Simmons described the results achieved as "fantastic" and said that information about the study would be available in a brochure.

IN LYNCH CASE

Laguna Trustees Are Threatened

Trustees of the Laguna Salada School District face the possibility of arrest if a hearing of charges against Pacifica teacher Alfred R. Lynch proceeds as scheduled, Lynch's attorney said last week.

The lawyer, Clrence Knight, said that one of the charges against Lynch, involving a controversy over religion, is illegal and that prosecuting Lynch on the charge would constitute a misdemeanor.

Knight said he and Lynch have beendiscussing whether to bring charges against the board membeds in the event the accusation is not withdrawn or dismissed.

The attorney petitioned Superior Judge Melvin E. Colm to order the hearing today before the County Board of Education cancelled because of the illegality of the charge.

Judge Colm did not grant the request but had scheduled a hearing to decide whether the one charge should be dismissed.

Lynch, who has been a controversial figure for years because of his anti-smut crusades and his defense of religious observances in school, was fired last April.

The district then filed suit to revoke his teached's permit, charging excessive absenteeism from his classroom at Vallemar School. This was followde with the filing of charges with the County Board of Education for the purpose of revoking Lynch's certificate to teach in any public school in San Matoe County.

Knight's petition filed last week recites that one of the charges filed with the county board states:

"That on or about Dec. 10, 1964, and again before the San Mateo County Board of Education at a meeting of said board on Feb. 17, 1965, respondent (Lynch) publicly stated that the teachers in the Laguna Salada Union Scohol District were militantly anti-Christian, when in truth and in fact, as respondent well knew, this was not so."

The lawyer said that disciplinary action against an employe because of anything he might have said to the county board is prohibited by state law. Fudthermore, Knight said, Lynch denies that he made the statement.

Health Plan Choice Urged

tee of the teachers' association, when he stated:

"We are now confronted with a moral issue."

Pennings said he felt that the action of the Board showed disregard of the teachers' needs.

Other association representatives who made up the large audience of teachers and personnel, expressed dissatisfaction with what they charged was the Board's continuing inaction and failure to set a district contribution per employee toward a health plan.

A contribution of $6.06 by the district toward a health plan, though passed at a former meeting, was asked to be reconsidered by Trustee O. Wayne Douglas.

Objections of other trustees, however, resulted in action on his request.

"We are back where we were several weeks ago," commented Douglas later.

"how do you go about doing this? I feel councilmen are entitled to it."

Daly City councilmen now earn $50 a month. The mayor's salary is $75.

Pacelli said that one avenue the council might consider is to invite representatives of homeowner groups to a council meeting to hear their views on the salary increase proposal.

He said the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce also should be consulted.

Pacelli remarked the salary issue "might" be discussed at a meeting of the council Monday night.

Previously, he added, councilmen considered deferring salaries until after next year's council elections in April but now feel the salary issue should be discussed at this time.

North County Tax Rates Raise Queries

A home on Robinson Drive, for instance, one of 700 similar dwellings in this tract, is assessed as follows:

Land Value	$2535
Improvements	$2075
Personal Property	$ 250
Total Value	$4860
Total taxes at $7.62 per $100	$370.72

In this particular case, the Southern Hills resident enjoys a lower tax rate largely because the area lies within the boundaries of the Bayshore Elementary School District — which has a tax rate of $2.12 per $100, or $1.37 per $100 lower than the Jefferson Elementary.

ON THE OTHER side of the tax coin is a home on Hillside Boulevard in southeastern Daly City, inside the boundaries of the two Jefferson school districts, that pays the top tax rate of $9.58 per $100.

The assesed valuation of this home is slightly less, but the property owner will pay $102 more in annual taxes, as follows:

Land Value	$2515
Improvements	$2125
Personal Property	$ 175
Total Value	$4815
Total Taxes at $9.58 per $100	$472.34

THIS PARTICULAR dwelling, as in the case of many parcels of property in the southern section of Daly City, have been annexed to Daly City but still remain within the boundaries of the Broadmoor Police District, Colma Fire District and Colma Lighting District, with a combined additional tax rate of almost 72 cents per $100.

The Hillside Boulevard residents' duplicate taxes are paid out as follows (in per $100 of value): Broadmoor Police, 47.7 cents; Colma Fire, 24.09 cents, and Colma Lighting, .06 cents. On a home valued at $5,000, this is an extra $35 in annual taxes.

The taxpayer, of course, receives absolutely no service from these taxing entities, since his land now lies within the boundaries of Daly City and municipal government takes care of needs the districts formerly provided.

HOW COULD this possibly happen? Though the damage is done for the current tax year, how does a property owner get himself out of this predicament?

First, nobody seems to want to accept responsibility for what at the least would appear poor planning.

Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage thinks that when a new area is being annexed to Daly City, the people ought to be told individually by the city about the duplicate taxation.

Daly City Manager Edward Frank insists that the city has gone to a great deal of effort to assist property owners to "dis-annex" themselves from the special districts. He indicates, however, that informing the newly annexed residents of this dual tax obligation was not a city responsibility.

SINCE THE Broadmoor Police District is unique in that it was established by special state legislative procedure, a petition bearing names of more than 50 per cent of the affected property owners is required to withdraw the homes from the district. Frank says the city has been forwarding these special petitions to homeowners on request.

In the lighting and fire districts, the city is now handling the necessary procedures for withdrawing the property, although not in time to stop this year's extra taxes. Petitions are available at city hall, Frank said. In some cases, a property owner may be "dis-annexed" from one duplicate district, but remain in the others.

The bulk of Daly City's 16,292 tax bills will carry a rate of about $9.00 per $100.

ALTHOUGH THIS is substantially less than the 1964-65 combined rate of $10.09, most homeowners will discover, if they haven't already, that their total tax bill will run at least $100 more than it did last year. The recent blanket re-assessment of all property to 25 per cent of actual market value, instead of the previous 19 or 20 per cent has had the effect of raising the actual value of property from 20 to 25 per cent.

Since there was not a corresponding reduction in taxes by local governments, the result is much higher taxes.

San Mateo County Tax Collector Russ Conti revealed that the 166,000 tax bills mailed throughout the county last month will produce $101,000,000 in tax dollars—or almost $15 million more than was received in 1964.

A substantial portion of this increased income comes from the re-assessment, a smaller amount from new developments.

This year, for the first time, some 55,000 San Mateo County individuals who have had their tax bills paid by a lending agency will receive a duplicate of their tax statement, under a program developed by Conti. For most of these people, it will be the first time they have ever seen their tax bills.

THE MOVE was prompted, Conti said, because of the unusual amount of interest in taxes that the re-assessments created in most communities.

The duplicate bills—to have been mailed about January 1—will be mailed about mid-November to accommodate the heavy demand for information about taxes.

These bills may help to explain to the taxpayer — if he has had his taxes paid through his monthly mortgage loan payments — why the monthly house payment has gone up.

Most certainly, lending institutions, or "tax-paying agents" as they are officially termed, have raised or will be raising monthly payments to loan holders in order to create a sufficiently sizable trust fund to handle the increase in taxes.

For a homeowner whose taxes have gone up by $100, a monthly house payment increase of $10 can be expected. The excess is to create an emergency reserve. This helps take care of just such things as tax increases, special assessments, or other unexpected costs which the homeowner may be required to pay during the year through his lending institution.

TAX BILLS became due Monday, and are delinquent on Dec. 10, 1965.

So far, north county cities have not had much more than an average response to the bills mailed directly to property owners who pay their taxes directly.

'MAJOR STEP' FOR AREA

West Bay Rapid Transit Approves $195,000 for Plan's First Phase

A $195,000 contract covering the first phase of master planning a transit system for San Mateo County was approved last week by the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority.

Chairman William R. Lawson called the action "the first major step toward solving one of our most pressing problems."

Twenty-five men and women turned out for a public hearing at which the Authority's contract with a consulting team was explained.

The team includes DeLeuw, Cather and Company and the George S. Nolte Company as Joint Venturers and Stanford Research Institute as the major subcontractor.

Members of the audience asked only a couple of questions and the meeting lasted less than 45 minutes.

The directors passed a resolution asking the County Board of Supervisors to allocate $195,000 from the special $1,200,000 study fund that was raised through a one-year 25 percent increase in auto license fees.

Inasmuch as three supervisors serve on the Authority board and voted for the resolution, the result is a foregone conclusion.

The first phase of the master plan study is to be completed by next July.

A second phase is to be accomplished by the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission. WBRTA directors say that making use of the BATS material will save the local district $150,000 to $215,000.

A separate contract will then be negotiated with the consulting team to complete the study.

That phase will cost an estimated $163,000.

The contract approved last night calls for a cost-plus arrangement, making it theoretically possible that the total cost of the first phase will be below the $195,000 ceiling.

Prior to approval of the contract, the directors added three new provisions, one of which gives WBRTA a closer check over the work and compensation of SRI and other subcontractors.

The study will examine all possibilities for rapid mass transit in the county, including supplementation of existing rail and bus facilities, as well as new "space age" systems.

"The Peninsula, and San Mateo County in particular, is one of the space age headquarters of the world," Lawson remarked.

"We are pioneering in space travel. It would seem that we could well adapt some of the 'spin-off' techniques of these advanced travel techniques to meeting our own local day to day transportation problems.

"Various radically new means of mass transportation have been studied for adaptation to this area. Right now hydrofoils and hovercraft are being tested on the bay. Other proposals, which have not been tested, may offer a solution to our local transportation problem.

"Such studies can be rewarding. However, we of course do not intend to spend substantial sums on such studies if the preliminary results appear not to warrant it. We believe that if we are to give the citizens of the Peninsula the best possible rapid transit system, we must not overlook any possibility."

N. County Deaths

VIRGINIA M. HOLDORF

Mrs. Virginia M. Holdorf, 51, 1155 Fernandez Way, Pacifica, died last week at a Burlingame phospital after a long illness. A native of Chicago, she had been a resident of Pacifica 10 years.

Ram Students Are Teachers

Three Westmoor students who are members of the Future Teachers' Club have become grade school teaching assistants.

Senior students with a "C" or better average and a satisfiactory attendance record are eligible.

These students interested in teaching careers are given a chance to actually teach the children and experience and investigate the teaching world.

Vista Mar and Pauline Brown grammar schools are being used for these teachihg experiences.

Priscilla Noffsinger, Connie Adams, Nomie Klevesahl are among the "cadet" teachers.

Instead of a sixth period class the girls go to a grammar school and assist in the classroom.

The extent of their responsibilities is decided by the master teacher.

This program has been in effect for two years under Miss Anne Golden, Future Teachers' Club advisor.

Date Set for 6 Witnesses In County Bookmaking Quiz

Six witnesses who refused to testify in the County Grand Jury's bookmaking investigation were ordered to County Jail until they agree to talk.

But Superior Judge Louis B. Dematteis, who imposed the jail terms after finding the reluctant witnesses in contempt of court, granted a stay to give them time to file appeals.

The jurist agreed that there are questions of law in the case that should be settled by an appellate court.

Judge Dematteis ordered the six men to report to County Jail at 5 p.m. Tuesday in the event the District Court of Appeals has not accepted jurisdiction of the case by that time. In the event they do go to jail, the judge said, they are to remain in custody until they answer the questions.

The men—Raymond S. Nielsen, Salvador Prieto, John P. Carey, Charles W. Tibbats, Kenneth Zahnd and Attilio Spagnuolo—were subpoenaed by District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson as witnesses in the grand jury's probe of bookmaking activity in San Mateo County in general and the possible involvement of Sheriff's Capt. Alvin J. Prara in particular.

Prara and four of the witnesses — Nielsen, Prieto, Carey and Tibbats — are under indictment in federal court in San Francisco as alleged members of a multi-million dollar bookmaking ring.

Of all the Banks and Savings Associations in Northern California...

Only American Savings

brings you all three:

1. BILLION DOLLARS IN STRENGTH. Behind your American Savings passbook stands the impressive strength of over one billion dollars in assets. We are the only billion dollar savings association in Northern California.

WE THOUGHT that coaching's obsessive preoccupation with game films had reached its zenith until UCLA's classic 56-3 rout of Cal.

When, after the game, a reporter asked the silly question of UCLA coach Tommy Prothro, "Do you think your boys played well," he got an even sillier reply: "I won't know until after I've seen the game films."

Considering the poor quality and continuity of 1924 game filming, we wonder, in view of the evident evaluative importance of the practice, if Bob Zuppke is still wondering whether or not Red Grange REALLY had a good day when he racked up 402 running yards and scored six touchdowns against Michigan.

WHILE WE'RE on the subject of great running, we wonder how many of you old 49er fans recall what a fantastic running team they really were.

In 1948, the third year of the All-America Conference, the 49ers set a pro rushing record which has never been surpassed, as they totaled 3,663 yards for 14 games.

More amazing, 11 men took part in compiling the record. In those days it wasn't unusual to spot a defensive man in the offensive backfield, occasionally, and imaginative Frankie Albert wasn't afraid to hand the ball to anybody with two legs (in later years, he even ran Leo Nomellini at fullback, occasionally). This not only made the 49ers colorful, but also assured a steady stream of fresh backs, which might not be a bad philosophy even today.

Those 11 men (their stats in parentheses) were: Johnny Strzykalski (915), Joe Perry (562), Forrest Hall (413), Albert (349), Verl Lillywhite (340), Len Ashmont (296), Norm Standlee (261), Jim Cason (146), Ed Carr and Bob Sullivan (121), and Joe Vetrano (71).

The 49ers led the All-America Conference in three of its four existing years, and to prove they weren't flukes, led the NFL in rushing from '52-54. No other team has ever annexed three straight rushing titles.

NOW TO DEFENSE, and we wonder why it is that publicity men and even, we're sorry to say, sports writers, often overlook the important, "Points Against" column when discussing a football team's defense.

They'll tell you how many yards have been run against a team from scrimmage, by passing, how many yards have been gained against the team on punt and kickoff returns; they may even go so far as to tell you how many steps opposing place kickers have marked off against them prior to conversions and field goals.

But mention points scored on their team? Too simple.

Really, now, is that any way to judge a defense?

ONE ASPECT of football—especially pro football—for which we have always had an irrational concern has been the problem of football fat boys and what they do when they retire.

Take, for instance, a sturdy, well-proportioned 6-foot, 200-pound All-American linebacker.

He has great potential but the pros tell him he's too small to back lines, and so, because everybody knows that pro linebackers are 225-230 pounds, our trim All-American embarks on a calorie and body building kick and goes up to 235, just for good measure.

He makes the pros and has a fine, well-paying 10 year career during which time nature increases his weight to 245.

Within a year after retirement, in which he's had little time to work out because of trying to make a living for 12 months of the year, and also because the only job he can get is in public relations, which requires many-caloried meals and drinks, he's up to 260 and still growing.

Now, unless he had been a great star—and usually only quarterbacks and halfbacks and fullbacks achieve any really lasting status—it's soon forgotten that he had been a good linebacker, and naturally, companies no longer require his public relations services.

So now he's 40, maybe a little bald, and he's a big fat slob. Maybe he'd been too busy to get married. Who would want him now? He has to sleep in special king-sized beds, buy big, expensive cars, have specially tailored clothes, and go through all the other little inconveniences fat men must endure.

And unless he's very, very careful, he'll die 10 years sooner than most men of his age and general health.

The shame of it all is that, unlike many fat people with glandular or psychological problems, he had a choice. He could have been a trim, healthy and happy —though unknown, 200-pounder. But for a game, a few cheers, and a couple of extra bucks during a fractional part of a potentially long life, he's become an aging, overweight and not generally healthy unknown.

Football's lure, it is strange.

IT IS frequently said, when sports fans get together, that one of the main differences between football players and baseball players is attitude; that is, as a general rule baseball just doesn't produce the "hot-dogs," the "rahs, rahs," or whatever you wish to call continually high spirited, apparently wholesomely dedicated young animals.

They are right, of course, and the answer is simple. You'll find it in the respective rule books. Baseball provides for a regular routine of breaks in the game—innings—while football, except for sparse time-outs, is a game that just keeps going until its over. Not to mention arguments with officials which, in baseball, last interminably, but which in football, for some reason, not only seldom occur but happen quick.

Football players, in short, have to get "up" for a game only once, perhaps twice (counting the halftime return), know it will be for only a couple of hours, and in front of fans who also know that THEY will be required to cheer for only a couple of hours.

Baseball players must start their adrenalin flowing at least nine times a game for an indefinite period, which, if it's too long, will also lose them fan support.

It can be as tedious and tiring as answering your morning alarm — and going to work — nine times a day.

TN IS BEATEN

Can Anyone Stop S.S.F.?

By MIKE CONNELLY

It's all down hill from here on out for the all-winning South San Francisco High School Warriors.

Having crushed a good Terra Nova eleven, 40-7, last Friday in the key game of the North Peninsula League season to date, the Warriors now face what must be considered a light schedule through the rest of the season.

The sole formidable stumbling block in their path might be El Camino November 12. But, with the exception of that one, the path is clear to end the year with a record of 16 straight wins dating back to 1964.

In gaining their 13th victory in a row, South S. F. found the early going rough against the Tigers.

Terda Nova's defense limited the Warriors to just two first downs in the first half and 63 total yards, 33 of which came on a single play.

That play was a scoring pass from John Moro to Greg Jones who also was frustated to 34 yards in the first half.

South San Francisco scored first when Jones gathered in a punt on his own 21-yard-line, side-stepped two tacklers, shook off a couple more, faked another, tip-toed down the sidelines to the 50 and then broke into a sprint and scored for a 79-yard, individually manuevered gallop.

Less than five minutes later Jones struck again as he hauled in the touchdown pass from Moro. Vince Olson added the conversion and it looked like South City in a romp.

But then the Terra Nova defense settled down and proceeded to halt the Warrior machine for the rest of the half. Midway through the second quarter, Terra Nova launched its only offensive of the day.

Starting on his own 24, Tiger quarterback Gady Topolinski guided Terra Nova 76 yards in 16 plays, grinding up short yardage at a time. He utilized his two strong backs, Mike Kenny and John Cunningham nine times during the drive and they picked up 44 yards between them. Cunningham provided the big play of the drive as he cardied the ball across mid-field on a 17-yard burst.

Topolinski capped the drive as he hit end Mike Ward with a seven - yard toss that Ward grappled out of the hands of a Warrior defender in the end zone.

The half ended with South San Francisco clinging to a slim seven point lead against a team they were supposed to rout.

But the opening play of the second half burst the Tigers' dream bubble and they never could get untracked.

A Tiger back, a little overanxious to field the kick on the one-yard line, fumbled it, kicked it and did everything but swallow it as he finally fell on the pigskin, on the Terra Nova one-yard line.

Terra Nova had to punt out of it. After the Warriors drove 13 yards, Jones burst nine yards for a score that was nullified by a penalty.

The Tigers stiffened and held another charge by Jones at their own one.

Again the Tigers had to punt from the shadows of their goal posts and this time they were not equal to the challenge of one of California's leading teams as Jones scored his third touchdown on a one-yard shot.

With less than one minute left in the third quarter, Jones once again scored, this time on a five-yard burst. Despite his four touchdowns, Jones had an off-day.

For an ordinary player, 91-yards on 14 carries, 33-yards on a pass reception and a 79-yard punt return might seem like a fairly good day.

But Jones is no ordinary player.

With less than eight minutes left, tailback Tom Olmo carried for the first time on the day and made it count. He rambled 73 yards with a Moro handoff for a touchdown.

And to satisfy the prognosticators, the Warriors scored again when Mike Momper plucked off another stray Tiger aerial and sped 69-yards for the score.

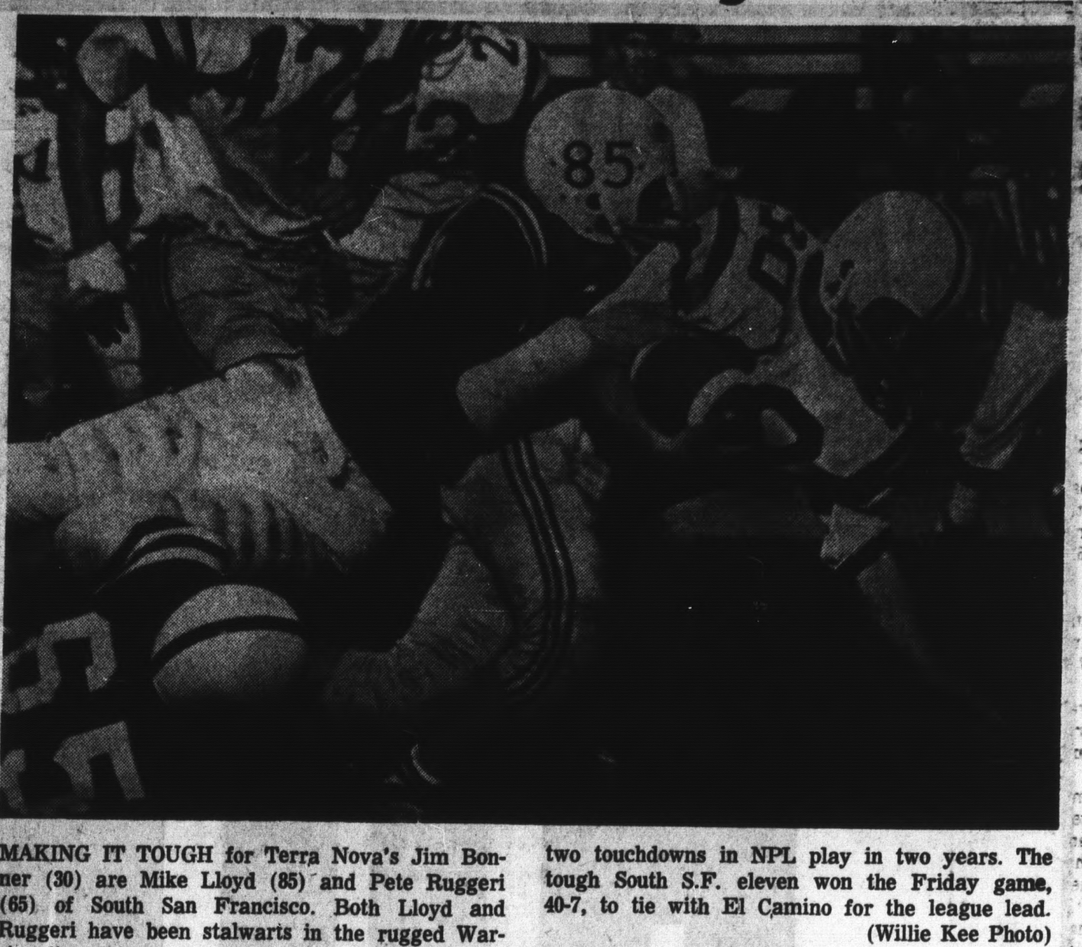
Warriors Halt a Tiger



MAKING IT TOUGH for Terra Nova's Jim Bonner (30) are Mike Lloyd (85) and Pete Ruggeri (65) of South San Francisco. Both Lloyd and Ruggeri have been stalwarts in the rugged Warrior line this year, which has surrendered only two touchdowns in NPL play in two years. The tough South S.F. eleven won the Friday game, 40-7, to tie with El Camino for the league lead. (Willie Kee Photo)

Fingertip Control

EL CAMINO'S Steve Nichols (64) just barely grabs onto the jersey of Westmoor's Mark DeBernardi (80) as speedy little Russ Outlaw (22) moves in to put on the clincher. The Colts upset the Rams, 26-20, last weekend, to move into a first place NPL tie with arch-rival South San Francisco. (Willie Kee Photo)

Rams Lose Another

Westmoor Edged By EC, 26-20

By RICH THILL

Westmoor High School's Rams hope to end their longest losing streak in years this weekend when they travel to Terra Nova after being defeated by El Camino, 26-20 last Friday.

Pete Matisi's Rams, who have won just one football game all year (to weak Aragon of the Mid-Peninsula League in the first game of the year), have now lost five contests in succession and are banking on meeting a TN unit that is "down" for their Friday encounter.

Friday, however, El Camino's Colts were anything but "down."

El Camino, whose players were confident all week that they could take the measure of the Daly City team, did just that in the North Peninsula League victory that was El Camino's second in league competition.

El Camino demonstrated its victory intention early in the contest when the Colts marched 47 yards in eight plays for their first touchdown, a two-yard smash by John Castellanos, and when Dave Landers intercepted a pass three plays after the ensuing kickoff and raced 43 yards to score again.

Castellanos scored following a second pass interception to give El Camino a 20-0 lead at the half.

Workhorse halfback Dave Dotur fired the host gridders in a great last-quarter rally, carrying the ball 16 consecutive times on the Rams' last touchdown march. Fittingly, Dotur scored both the TD and extra points on runs.

Castellano scored his third touchdown on a 67-yard pass from Mickey Ackley to put the game out of Westmoor's reach. Westmoor's other touchdowns came on a two-yard run by Dotur and a 21-yard pass from Ken Smith to Larry Baker.

CSM Grid Unit Loses Homecoming

Things will probably get worse before they get better for College of San Mateo's football team this fall.

The Bulldogs dropped their homecoming contest to rival Foothill, 18-6, Saturday afternoon and now must look forward to meeting nationally rated (ninth) City College of San Francisco Friday Afternoon.

CCSF has outscored its Golden Gate Conference opponents 142-34 en route to a perfect 4-0 record and Ram halfback O. J. Simpson has already equaled the league season touchdown mark of 10. CSM and Foothill are both 2-2 in the GGC.

Jeff Finally Hits the Win Column, 32-6

By MEL YORKS

Frustrated without a win for the entire year, Jefferson High School finally hit the victory column last weekend with an easy 32-6 lashing of weak Oceana.

But this weekned figures to be a vastly different sotry.

Tde Indians of Joe McGrath host the powerful Warriors of South San Francisco Friday at 3 p.m. and will be prohibitive underdogs to the men from the Industrial City.

McGrath's crew, now tied for third in North Peninsula League play with a 1-1 mark, were matched in statistics by the Sharks last week, but managed to halt the home team almost every time they threatened to tally.

Both clubs displayed good rushing attacks with the visiting Redmen racking up 255 yards on the ground as compared to 44 for the Sharks.

Big Al Namanny of Jefferson was the prime force in the visitors' attack with 137 yards rushing and three touchdowns.

Namanny scored on runs of 66, 2, and 3-yard runs.

The Indians went out to an immediate lead of 13-0 at the end of the first quarter and stayed there for the rest of the game.

Oceana got on the scoreboard for the first time this year in league play on a 28-yard pass play from Tim Varner to Bud Scheder.

The loss dropped the Sharks into a tie for the cellar with once-potent Westmoor; both clubs have 0-2 records in league play.

Oceaan plays El Camino Friday in South San Francisco.

Ram Lights Gun for Titles

The North Peninsula League C and D basketball races comes down to a photo finish tomorrow with a key double-header featuring Jefferson and Westmoor.

The powerful Rams, with both C and D teams threatening for their respective titles with 7-1 marks, must win both games tomorrow versus the Indians.

Should they take both games, the Ram lightweights will then, depending on the outcome of the South San Francisco C game tomorrow, tie for both crowns.

Jefferson, if they won yesterday, has undefeated record in the D's, but a loss to the Rams (expected to have won easily yesterday against Oceana) would deadlock that championship.

Westmoor and South San Francisco should tie for the C title if all goes according to form.

Camino Club Hosts 49ers

Y. A. Tittle, and Forty-niner personalities headed up by coach Jack Christiansen and many National Football League stars will appear at the El Camino Sports Club's football banquet, Wednesday, November 17 at Brentwood Lodge in South San Francisco.

Serving as master of ceremonies is Bob Fouts, long-time voice of the Forty-niners on television and radio.

Reservation checks are being accepted now.

Cost of the dinner is $6.50 per person, and checks should be sent to El Camino Sports Club at 353 Hazel, in San Bruno.

The dinner is open to all adult men.

"King" of the Forty-niner fans — San Bruno's Richie di Gregorio — will be honored by the pro team and the sports club.

In 20 years, since the inception of the Forty-niners, di Gregorio has never missed a home exhibition or league game.

Westmoor Harriers Win Meet

Westmoor High School took home the team title, but San Mateo High's Willie Stephens grabbed the individual thunder in last week's Center cross-country meet at the Hallmark Hills course.

The Ram runners posted a combined time of 65:35, to finish first in the nine school meet.

Palo Alto was second, with Gunn High School coming in rth.

Stephens' effort tied the course record.

Burlingame won the sophomore and junior varsity divisions, while San Mateo posted a first in the freshman class.

Second place went to Ed Castagnetto, Colma, Calif., who took a 214 for the 54-hole tournament over three Reno courses.

Big Government Poses a Threat

THE THEORY that regional governments, over riding the powers of local governments, could solve regional problems continues to enchant many otherwise clear thinkers who manage to close their eyes to the evident fact that "big" government is not necessarily good or efficient government.

Our federal government, for example, is the most costly government in all history but it can hardly be said that it has solved all, or even a major portion, of the problems within federal jurisdiction. Indeed, the problems of the federal government have proliferated and escalated in ratio roughly corresponding to its ever-growing size and cost. It is especially notable that in the areas where the federal government has moved to take over rights that once firmly belonged to the states the problems are often more aggravated than ever before.

THE STATE of California is no shining example of big government. It, also, is highly expensive in relation to the services it performs and, when it comes to problems—big problems—it has more of them than you could shake the proverbial stick at.

Yet, at a regional conference for San Mateo and Santa Clara counties, held at Foothill College, a state assemblyman nominated the state as a "super-government" to effectively solve the manifold problems of the cities.

Local governments, of course, have their faults. They are slow to agree or co-operate in regional problems. They are largely controlled by lay supervisors, councilmen or commissioners who may often be stubborn, ill-informed, or over-impressed with their own importance. But these samethings can be true of larger government on a larger scale.

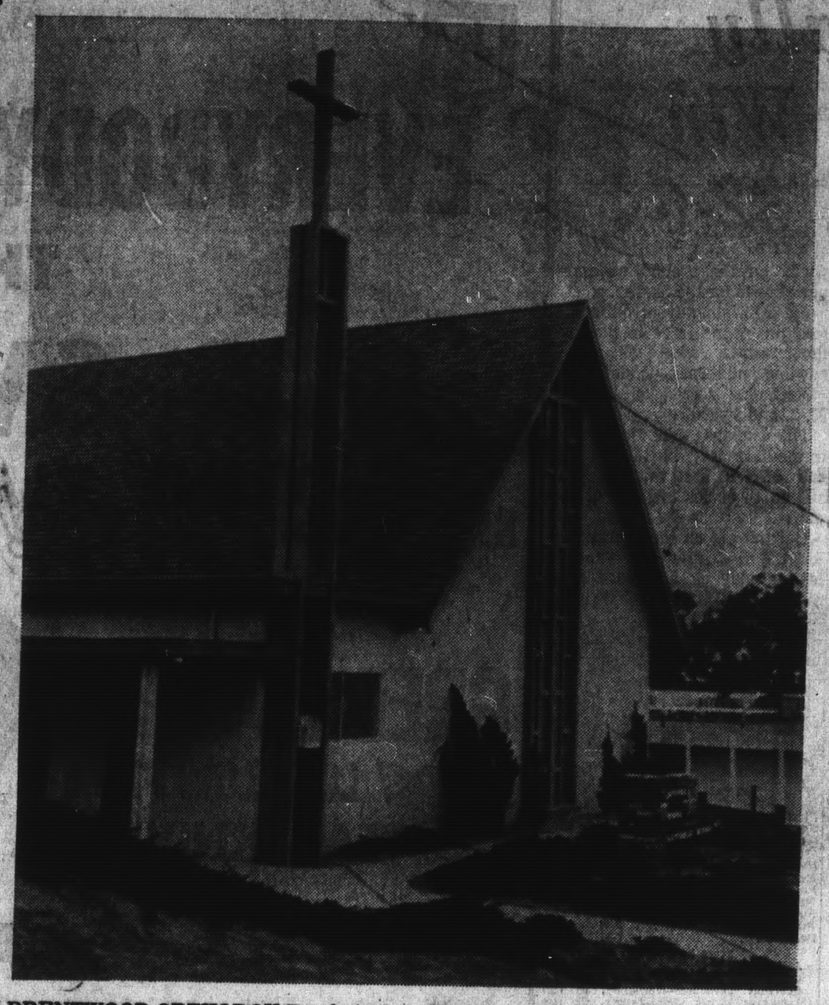
THE LOCAL government, however, is far more responsive to the voters in its own area and its final decisions, if it can manage to make them, are apt to fairly closely represent what the people of a city or county want. That is the real purpose of government.

The idea of regional government has certain fascinations, but who among us — especially at tax time —is not prone to believe that he already has more government than he can comfortably afford. And we can be very sure that every time we add to government, at regional or any other level, we will have to pay for it.

As for the "super-government" referred to by Assemblyman Nicholas C. Petris at the Foothill conference, we have the distinct feeling that its first efforts would go into collecting super-taxes to support some new super-bureaucrats who would attempt to supersede home rule with a super-power grab. Instead of solving present regional problems it would likely present us with a fresh set of super-problems which someone would propose solving with yet another super-government.

There is a word for all this. It is "superfluous."

Brentwood Orthodox Church



BRENTWOOD ORTHODOX Presbyterian Church at 186 Country Club Drive in South San Francisco was founded in 1958. The first pastor was the Rev. Arthur Riffle. He was followed by Rev. Ed Urban. The congregation first met in a store in the Brentwood area. The present church was dedicated in 1960. Rev. James Austin, who has been pastor at the church since September, says that the congregation numbers about 25 communicant families.

Bay Area UHF TV May Come Back on KSAN

Bob Foster

WHAT MIGHT be considered by a lot of people to be a rather amazing deal has occurred in the world of local television.

KSAN-TV, the first UHF television station in the Bay Area, which has been dark now for nearly eight years, has been sold to Metromedia.

The station, owned by the Hillsborough S. A. Patterson family, originally came on the air in 1954 and telecast on a daily basis all the home games of the San Francisco Seals' baseball club.

In addition the station showed old movies, had one of the original teen-age rock and roll shows and struggled along for nearly four years from its transmitter on Mount Sutro in San Francisco. Actually the station had a very fine signal and in many areas was received with better than average signal strength.

Since leaving the air in 1958, the equipment of the station has been disposed of including the antenna which was mounted on the tall KGO-TV tower.

What will surprise everybody is that Metromedia, one of the largest owners of television and radio property in the U.S. paid $1 million for the station. Just what the buyers will get for this is a mystery.

However, Metromedia is a most successful business firm and it doesn't behoove us to question their decision.

ACCORDING TO word from Los Angeles phoned to me, Metromedia will exercise its option to buy the station only when and if the "tall tower" case now in litigation is resolved.

This means that KSAN-TV will not be on the air until KGO-TV and the other local stations erect a new 700-foot tower on Mount Sutro, KRON-TV which currently is located on Mount San Bruno, soon to be cut down, has opposed the FCC's decision to locate the tall tower on Mount Sutro.

A number of other stations currently operating from Mount San Bruno are also opposed to the change.

Officials of Metromedia are pretty sure that they can make UHF television work in San Francisco, despite the fact that at the moment the number of UHF receiving sets is less than 20 per cent of the total number.

According to the buyers this station will offer viewers a superior television service. It will necessarily be an independent station.

At any rate by the time the new station gets the air other UHF stations will probably be on the air. Right now Kaiser Broadcasting is planning a new UHF television station for the Bay Area.

KNBR, which has relaxed its music policy and is now swinging, but in an adult manner, has returned another show to the air which was much missed, and which is most welcome upon its return.

Each Saturday afternoon, one of the most expert of the local sports announcers, Hal Wolf presents his "Football Roundup."

For many years this was a natural, and a much-looked for feature on KNBR. Hal, who has been handling sports for a quarter of a century, is missed and the decision by KNBR to return him to the air each Saturday afternoon is most welcome, and much needed.

Actually at the moment KNBR enjoys the wonderful situation of having two of the most informed sports people in broadcasting on the staff. Wolf and Frank Dill are most certainly tops in their fields. Both know not only football, but baseball, basketball, ice hockey, tennis, golf and other sports and they know them well.

"SHINDIG," the first of the television rock and roll shows received the axe late last week.

The twice-weekly series was axed and will be cancelled as of the middle of December. ABC did not announce just what show will replace it. Perhaps they could extend the King Family on Saturday night . . . but they won't.

NBC IS planning to drop "Convoy," the highly touted war time series. However, things didn't work out the way they wanted, and it looks like "Convoy" will make way for a variety-type show, probably starring Sammy Davis Jr.

His Pacific Parade column will be resumed on his return.

Better Business

Standards Set For Meat Men

Lorene Beasley

AS A RESULT of the unethical operations of fringe operators in the food freezer and bulk meat business, the Better Business Bureau held a joint meeting with food freezer and meat dealers of the Bay Area to formulate ethical standards of practice for the advertising and sale of freezer meats.

The average customer knows little concerning the grading of meat. "U.S. beef" does not properly refer to the quality of the meat and can be used ethically only when used to define a grade.

"Inspection" of meat should not be confused with "grading" of meat, nor represented as indicating "quality."

"Inspected" means that the animal or carcass has been inspected by either the federal, state, or county representatives and has passed the necessary requirements for cleanliness and wholesomeness.

THE INITIALS "U.S.D.A." used in any advertisement of meat are understood to indicate that the meat has been officially graded by an authorized representative of the United States Department of Agriculture and is properly inspected or graded or both.

Government graded meats should be described in advertising according to U.S.D.A. terminology: Prime, Choice, Good Commercial, etc.

"Premium" grade may be used by one packer to indicate top quality and used by another packer to indicate his lowest grades.

The term "side" of beef means one fore quarter and one hind quarter. If the term "half" is used, it means one fore and one hind or two fores or two hinds.

BETTER Business Bureau Shoppers have found flagrant "bait" advertising. They found it required much persistence and insistence to buy any beef advertised for 27 cents, 29 cents, and 30 cents.

A white-coated salesman took them into the chill room and showed them the advertised meat which was fatty and mouldy. He further discouraged them from buying by pointing out the fact that the meat waste was around 60 per cent, actually running up the cost of the meat to 70 cents to 80 cents a pound.

He then tried to switch them to two red looking quarters whose waste would only be 5 per cent to 10 per cent but would cost 79 cents a pound. When they would not be switched, he said he was sold out of the sale beef.

ONE COMPLAINANT to the bureau learned that advertisement "cut and double wrapped for freezing" did not apply on small orders.

Another complainant purchased a hundred pound net beef for $39. Instead of receiving the steaks, roasts, ground beef and other specified delicious beef cuts she was promised, she received approximately five pounds of steaks, five pounds of roasts, 50 pounds of ground beef and 40 pounds of plate, brisket and shank.

Regarding advertisements such as "use one of our freezers 30 months for a total cost of $30. "You may keep the freezer with future orders." Remember! Any contract covering the purchase of a freezer food plan, on an installment basis, should be in accordance with statutes governing conditional sales contracts or similar contracts which require disclosure of such important information as the selling price down payment, balance, financing charges, insurance charges, number and amount of installment payments.

The Marquee

Film Fete Is S.F. Hit

Barbara Bladen

CULTURE IN San Francisco got a kick in the pants last week when an elegantly dressed, first night audience at the Ninth Annual San Francisco International Film Festival gave Willie Mays a bigger ovation than Dinah Shore, Gig Young, Shirley Temple, Tennessee Ernie Ford, and Mervyn LeRoy together.

In spite of heavy contribution to the event from television and Hollywood, somehow it was San Francisco's night all the way. Under the new sponsorship of the S. F. Chamber of Commerce, we were treated to a change, not only of location but of format, from the stereotyped programming of the previous eight years.

Limousines pulled up to the kleig lights, red carpet, and television camera-decorated steps of the Masonic Auditorium on California Street, as a choir, standing on a raised platform in front of the glass front, heralded the arrivals with specially written music.

Like an old friend with a new personality, there was a fresh, new approach and healthy complexion to a festival that has been severely criticized in the past few years, but now looks to be headed for a brighter future.

Credit was lavished where it was due, to Irving Levin and Harold Zellerbach who started the whole thing, and the official corps of 400 volunteer workers who started in May to shape up the internationally recognized event.

IT STARTED an hour late with Shirley Temple Black acting as hostess for a round of introductions and speeches by S. F. Mayor John Shelley, various consular corps officials, and Mel Swig, who is the chamber's appointed general chairman of the fest. The city's contribution of $90,000 to put on the 10-day, morning-to-past-midnight daily screenings is taking $25,000 of that from the hotel tax fund. The Swigs lent their Fairmont Hotel for a big party after the opening.

With Dave Sachs of KGO-TV on the planning committee, the celebrity list drew heavily from television ranks. Although they only lent their presence, several of them accepted awards for outstanding television films. Among those who shared the spotlight with Harold See of KRON-TV were Ed Begley, Richard Crenna, Vic Morrow, Tim O'Connor, Ruth Roman (who acted the same role at the Festival as she does on the program "Long Hot Summer," much to the mixed delight and embarrassment of the audience and officials), Roger Smith, a Russian delegation of four, Lana Wood, and Gig Young.

Arlene Dahl, Tennessee Ernie Ford, and Dinah Shore made speeches. Add Shirley Temple Black's presence to that foursome and you have a trump hand of the sweetest people in show business.

Disc Jockeys Rate a Salute

Samuel Chandler

REMEMBER Ol' Ma Parkins, The Hit Parade, Helen Trent, and Mr. Cameleion—May they rest in peace. They are not related to the disc jockeys and announcers who have unthroned them.

Once radio programs were interrupted for advertizing each 15 minutes, in some cases each half hour. Now some stations present 25 commercials in an hour.

Time was when stations played 5 or 10 minutes of unbroken music. Now each piece, however, short is preceded by a comment and an introduction. All radio seems based on music and talk.

THE KEY man is the disc jockey—the personality—he reads commercials, plays records, casts the latest news, tells jokes, airs his family laundry, answers letters, and phone calls in an endless marathon. He can say anything that comes into his head, however pointed. He's the most omniscent person in modern society. In one program he may give his views about everything from cabbages to kings, from bacon to Beethoven.

For example, here is a three-minute monologue from a recent morning program. I was unable to take down every word nor even get the exact wording—it was much more clever —but it went something like this.

"Did 'cha ever think that some of our greatest artists and people have been tormented souls. Some real wierdos. Why is that? I don't know. Sometimes wierdos—squares like that just want to be understood—don't lie to them—jus' say—I got 'cha, I understand! Twenty-five minutes after eight."

THERE FOLLOWED a piece of off-key music about everybody loving a clown, then a commercial about a rogue who was sitting in a chair eating some candy. A shape fropped into the chair beside him and gulped down his last piece and asked for more. "I ate 'em all," he explained and she said, "Ya stingy fink, and gave him a knuckle sandwich."

Then the disc jockey came back with a plea to be nice to wierdos because they might be creating a new song and anyway most of them couldn't hold a regular job. Then he demonstrated how it would be if one of them went into an employment agency.

There followed a commercial about a woman who dared to squeeze a loaf of bread and a song with a female singer who seemed to be trying to outrun a guitar in what appeared to be a race, set to a rocky beat. Then the disc jockey aired his views about the Hells' Angels.

So it goes all day long—music and chatter —the so-called good music stations vary the motif by playing Bach and Brahms rather than the Beatles and the Surfers.

LET ME give you another example. As the notes from the overture to Carmen die out the disc jockey said something like this. "Do you know that Schubert had a horse named Sarah. He trained her to march in parades. So all the time she was right out there leading the band. But finally she got too old. One day she was standing in the window looking at a passing parade and Schubert's Sarahneyed."

This was followed with a commercial—I think it was the one with a man singing about macaroni to the tune of the Triumphant March from Aida.

While it sparkles, you can take me back to Baby Snooks, Myrt and Marje or Fibber McGree's closet.

STILL THESE disc jockeys deserve a salute. They have a hard job. As one station owner said, in a quote that may be found in an article by Alfred Besler.

"It seems easy, but it's a hell of a trick to be able to talk for three hours straight and project yourself as a warm, interesting companion. You also have wide appeal." "People," he continues, "listen to radio in groups of one, and the test of the successful D.J. is to be able to communicate with people on a one to one basis."

Mr. Bester's article may be found in the June 1963 issue of Holiday magazine. There in he observes that today's radio stations are locally owned and their programs are slanted to local tastes and towards local points of view.

Most stations maintain a program department which keeps strict control over the music broadcast on the station, all the D.J.'s can do is choose the order in which they want to play their records. This, of course, makes the jobs even harder for they must be able to put over the sound. They must become familiar with the variations in the music they play and gear their comments to fit them.

An article by Desmond Smith entitled American Radio Today was published in the September issue of Harper's Magazine. While the author acknowledges the tremendous task that evolves upon the disc jockeys and the trend towards locally owned stations and local programming, he maintains that "The merchants of trash who dominate the airwaves and their powerful allies in Washington act as if public interest did not exist."

THIS ARTICLE was republished in the October 1964 issue of Reader's Digest under the title "American Radio: An Insult to the Public."

An interesting book is Irving Settels "A Pictorial History of Radio." The introduction by Brock Brower is a Lament for Old-time Radio. The other chapters in the book trace the history of radio broadcasting from its beginnings through the 1950s.

As pictorial histories go this is one of the best.

Louanne's Datebook

By LOUANNE HEATH

FIND IT a little difficult to think about New Year's when the thermometer soars as high as it has recently?

Well, the Brownies of troop 9618 are thinking ahead to 1966 and will begin selling calendars tomorrow, chill wind or more heat wave!

Mrs. Laura Cunningham is a mother in charge of sales program and anyone interested in helping the Brownie Scout program can arrange to purchase one of the 1966 calendars by calling her at 775-9127.

According to Mrs. Mae Bastien, the troop leader, the girls are helping the Brownie Scout program and calendars are sold for 50 cents each and 10 cents of that price is retained for the support of the local troop.

CHRISTMAS AND the eternal question — "what shall I wear during the holidays" will be the subjects of the commentary when the Nu Sigma chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority has its winter fashion show on November 13.

Fashions from Celestine's collection will be modeled by sorority members at the Seven Hills restaurant in San Francisco during a luncheon showing.

Mrs. June McCarthy, a member of the sorority and new owner of Celestine's has been having a good deal of fun selecting the styles to be worn by her friends and Mrs. Frank McCarthy, another sorority sister, is busily preparing for her stint as fashion commentator.

Mrs. Herbert Decker is the chairman of the show and reservations for the event may be made by calling her at WY 2-3881.

For the second consecutive year the Mothers Club of Commodore Sloat School, just across the boundary in San Francisco, has extended an invitation to north Peninsula women to attend their big annual social event.

This year the women have arranged a house tour, on November 10, that will include lovely homes in the St. Francis Woods area, some with indoor swimming pools, others with extensive collections of antiques, art or simply lovely decor. Tea and a fashion show are also included.

For information and tickets, call Mrs. John Dill, 731-518.

TUESDAY EVENING was model meeting night for the Tau Gamma Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority in Pacifica.

The prospective members of the chapter were the guests of honor in the home of Mrs. Roberta Gould, chapter president.

Special treat for the evening was a wig demonstration presented by Adonna Reiswig of the Kitti of California shop in South San Francisco.

STILL EXCITED about a wonderful weekend in Coronado, are Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Morton.

In the southland for a Structural Engineers Association of California meeting, the couple managed to work in side trips that included sightseeing in Mexico and view the wonders of Marneland.

MRS. ANN EASON and Mrs. Carla Kay, chairman of the hostesses for the North Peninsula Circle for the Florence Crittenton Home Fall Fantasy Fashion show have announced the selection of hostesses.

Mrs. Frances Windhurst, Mrs. Jean Rohl, Mrs. Ann Ingersol, Mrs. Eleanor Reynolds, Mrs. Jess West, Mrs. Barbara Volers, Mrs. Christine Pack, Mrs. Marie Siciliano, Mrs. Vi Murphy, Mrs. Julie Byrne, Mrs Mary Meyers and Mrs. Helen Specht will be in charge of hospitality when the guests arrive at the Thunderbolt Inn on November 8.

THE PREMIERE performance of Carousel at the Hyatt Music Theatre will be staged as a benefit for the Mercy Shield of Burlingame, according to Mrs. O. Walter Mignault, area chairman of the North County for this gala event.

According to Mrs. Mignault the Mercy Shield has extended an invitation to all members of the alumni and friends to attend the production on November 30 at 8:30 p.m. Anna Marie Alberghetti will star in the classic play.

Tickets are now available and anyone wishing to make reservations may do so by calling 755-5078.

MRS ROBERT L. JOHNSON, publicity chariman for the College of the Holy Names alumni, has announced plans for the annual College Day for high school junior and senior girls.

College day, according to Mrs. Johnson, is designed to allow any interested girl to tour the Oakland [illegible] and Hollywood somehow it was San Francisco. Oakland Campus, to meet the faculty and students, attend classes and have luncheon.

The Northern Peninsula Alumnae chapter of the college is arranging transportation for any girl interested in attending. For information or to arrange transportation, contact Mrs. Thomas Sannon, at 323 King Drive, in South San Francisco, or call 761-2033.

SUNDAY MORNING, following the 9 a.m. Mass, members of the Holy Angels Women's Guild will attend their annual Breakfast meeting in the Frair Room.

Mrs. William McCarthy and Mrs. James McLoughlin are the charimen and reservations may be made by calling WY 2-4648.

CALL NOW to make reservations to the Westlake Catholic Women's 12th annual Mercy Ball, scheduled for November 13 in the Marquee Room of the Hyatt House.

Mrs. Dale Johnson and Mrs. Tenny Campbell are chairmen of the dinner-dance and Mrs. Patrick Ganey is arranging for decorations.

For reservations to the semi-formal affair, call reservations chairmen Mrs. Peter Bistoff at PL 5-9034 or Mrs. Vincent Hussey PL 6-8710, before Tuesday.

Apportionment Is Topic for League

The Daly City-Colma Unit of the League of Women Voters of San Francisco will continue the study of apportionment at its unit meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Meetings are open to all women of voting age who are interested in government.

Tonight's meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. T. J. Van Zandt of 1005 Skyline Drive in Daly City.

Information about the league may be obtained from the membership chairman, Mrs. Van Zandt at PL 5-2963 or the unit chairman, Mrs. Jack Hart at PL 5-2057.

Hosts Pacifica's Attorney

Pacifica City Attorney Conrad Reisch will speak at 8 p.m. tonight at Vallemar School in the multi-use room to the Pacifica branch of the American Association of University Women.

The two year study topic is "The Law and the Citizen" and Mr. Reisch will speak on local ordinances and legal problems confronting homeowners.

A group of aspiring recorder players will meet in the cultural room under the Pacifica library at 8 p.m. next Wednesday.

Anyone interested in joining the group may contact Mrs. Constance Buchanan at 359-1052.

Government graded meats should be described in advertising according to U.S.D.A. terminology: Prime, Choice, Good Commercial, etc.

"Premium" grade may be used by one packer to indicate top quality and used by another packer to indicate his lowest grades.

The term "side" of beef means one fore quarter and one hind quarter. If the term "half" is used, it means one fore and one hind or two fores or two hinds.

BETTER Business Bureau Shoppers have found flagrant "bait" advertising. They found it required much persistence and insistence to buy any beef advertised for 27 cents, 29 cents, and 30 cents.

A white-coated salesman took them into the chill room and showed them the advertised meat which was fatty and mouldy. He further discouraged them from buying by pointing out the fact that the meat waste was around 60 per cent, actually running up the cost of the meat to 70 cents to 80 cents a pound.

He then tried to switch them to two red looking quarters whose waste would only be 5 per cent to 10 per cent pound. When they would not be switched, he said he was sold out of the sale beef.

ONE COMPLAINANT to the bureau learned that advertisement "cut and double wrapped for freezing" did not apply on small orders.

Another complainant purchased a hundred pound net beef for $39. Instead of receiving the steaks, roasts, ground beef and other specified delicious beef cuts she was promised, she received approximately five pounds of steaks, five pounds of roasts, 50 pounds of ground beef and 40 pounds of plate, brisket and shank.

Regarding advertisements such as "use one of our freezers 30 months for a total cost of $30. "You may keep the freezer with future orders." Remember! Any contract covering the purchase of a freezer food plan, on an installment basis, should be in accordance with statutes governing conditional sales contracts or similar contracts which require disclosure of such important information as the selling price down payment, balance, financing charges, insurance charges, number and amount of installment pay-

Sorority Sets Meet

The next regular meeting of Psi Epsilon chapter of Beta Signa Phi will be held at 8 p.m. tonight at the home of Mrs. Daniel Castigliano at 2410 Fleetwood Drive in San Bruno.

Mrs. Castigliano will present the cultural program titled "Jewelry."

Mrs. John Beekman and Mrs. Bruce Williams will represent the chapter as models at the fashion show and luncheon to be sponsored by Nu Sigma chapter of Daly City, to be held at the Seven Hills restaurant in San Francisco on November 13.

Psi Epsilon members who will attend are Mrs. Harlan Bostick, Mrs. Harry Johnson, Mrs. Arthur Jepsen and Mrs. Blanche Jacobson and their guests — Mrs. Telford Smith, Mrs. Robert Beviacqua, Mrs. Robert Lynch, Mrs. Clifford Deranleau and Miss Fredonna Turney.

Open House Is Set for Center

The North County Mental Health Center at 45 Southgate Avenue in Daly City will hold [illegible] n open house from 2:30 to 5 [illegible] m. next Thursday.

All residents of the area and [illegible] nterested parties may attend.

For further information par[illegible] es may call 589-5222.

UNICEF Cards Are Being Sold

UNICEF cards and calendars are now on sale in Pacifica for the fourth year.

Each year an increasing number of people learn about the UNICEF greeting cards—cards designed and contributed by internationally famous artists.

They are sold in more than one hundred countries for the benefit of the United Nations Children's Fund.

UNICEF greeting cards accomplish the double purpose of giving children in need a chance for a happier and healthier life and exchanging the sentiments of friendship and goodwill so fundamental to mankind.

UNICEF cards and calendars are now available at 1327 Crespi Drive at 359-5524, and 111 Olympian Way at 359-3405.

After November 15, UNICEF cards will be available in the lobbies of the Pacifica Post Office, Pacific Manor, and Station A, Linda Mar.

Volunteers are urgently needed.

Please phone Enid Emde at 359-5524 or Eileen Baldwin at 359-3405 for further information.

YW-Wives Will See a Candle Demonstration

The YWCA YW-Wives have planned a demonstration on candlemaking for their next meeting at St. Martin's Episcopal church at 777 Southgate Avenue.

Ruth Galindo from Daly City's Park and Recreation Department will demonstrate candlemaking tomorrow from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Mrs. Galindo has been with the Park and Recreation Center for several years and is presently conducting classes in holiday crafts and candlemaking at Westmoor Park and Lincoln Park clubhouses.

No meeting is scheduled for November 11, but a tour of Podesta Baldocchi, florist, is scheduled for November 12.

'Holiday Tea' Is Slated by Women

The annual "Holiday Tea" sponsored by the Woman's Society of the Wesley Methodist Church in Daly City will be held at 1 p.m. on November 13 in the Fellowship Hall of Temple Methodist Church, at Nineteenth Avenue and Junipero Serra Boulevard.

Children are welcome, a fish pond is planned for them filled with surprises for their delight.

Refreshments and entertainment are included in the admission price of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children aged 5 to 12 years. Those under 5 admitted free.

Proceeds of this event will be used in the building program and furthering the work of the church.

Lutherans to Have Dinner

Hope Lutheran Church of Daly City will hold its annual Loyalty Dinner at Temple Judea Sunday evening beginning at 5:30 p.m.

According to Stan Skoog, who has been in charge of arrangements for the affair, an excellent program will be presented.

Speaker for the evening will be the Rev. John Uhlig of Redwood City, representing the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

An informative discussion of hope Lutheran Church's plans for 1966 will be part of the evening's program. Of special interset in these plans is the building program, which anticipates the beginning of construction of a new administrative building in June 1966.

Temple Judea Will Host National Executive Board

Temple Judea will host the executive board of the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods, representing 80,000 men throughout the country, at a special Sabbath service at 8:30 p.m. next Friday.

This special service at the temple on Brotherhood Way will highlight the meeting of this national body. Dr. W. Gunther Plaut, nationally recognized Jewish leader, and the author of the new book, "The Case for the Chosen People," will be the guest speaker.

On November 11, at a dinner to be held at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco, Rabbi Herbert Morris, rabbi of Temple Judea, will deliver the keynote address. During the course of the evening a set of books on Judaica will be presented to the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary by the Jewish Chautauqua Society, a project of the NFTB.

William A. Carleton, dean, will be accepting the gift on behalf of the Baptist Seminary. The Jewish Chautauqua Society, through its five-phase program, provides for a better relationship between Christians and Jews. The five phases consist of college visits by rabbinic lecturers, resident lectureships on Judaism at 30 universities, the presentation of books to college libraries, the assignment of rabbis to church camps as counselor-teachers for week-long periods at Christian youth camps and the presentation of radio and TV programs.

The YCS program reaches every state, six Canadian provinces and many countries abroad.

The latest film produced by the JCS stars Melvyn Douglas as the narrator in "The Fast I Have Chosen," which depicts Judaism's moral mandates for the War on Poverty.

Zel Baer of San Francisco, past president of Temple Judea's Brotherhood, is the president of the Northern California Council of Temple Brotherhoods.

Henry Metz is president of the Temple Judea Brotherhood.

Winning Entry

MICHAEL PASINI of Our Lady of Mercy School in Daly City is shown here receiving a $50 Savings Bond for his prize-winning essay on Christopher Columbus in a contest sponsored by Marian Council of the Knights of Columbus. Robert C. Simon of the unit is awarding the bond.

Women Will Observe Day This Friday

World Community Day will be observed by the San Francisco Council of United church Women on Friday at 1:30 p.m. at St. John's Presbyterian Church, Arguello and Lake Streets.

Speaking on the theme, "Laity's Mission in World Affairs," will be L. M. F. Corvin, vice president of the United Nations Associations in San Francisco.

Offerings of both money and sewing projects will be collected by ladies in foreign costumes for Church World Service to be used in the "World Community." Tea will be served following the program. A nursery will be available.

Baptists Plan Special Day

Sunday is Fellowship Sunday in the Church School of the Westside Baptist Church of San Bruno.

During the past six weeks the Church School has been cooperating with other Conference Baptist Churches in the Families for Christ emphasis.

Lutherans Have Been Confirmed

Nine young people at Westlake Lutheran Church completed their two years of study of the Christian faith and life and last Sunday gave witness of their commitment to this faith and life.

At the 11 o'clock worship service, before family and friends, Carl Barnes, Charla Garden, Elaine Laingen, Donna Nyquist, Jette Pedersen, Barbara Stoick, Roy Totten, Benny Tetzner, and Lynnae Vinje took part in the Lutheran service of confirmation.

Peace Corps Speaker Set To Talk to D.C. Baptists

Harriett Lee Hill, a former Peace Corps volunteer, who has recently returned from Sierra Leone, West Africa, where she taught for two years, will be the speaker at the morning communion service at Westlake Community Baptist Church Sunday.

Although she will be speaking on the topic, "Peace Corps as a Christian Service," Miss Hill says that she is not sure that Peace Corps can be called a Christian service, and certainly the government intends it to be anything but that.

"Nevertheless," she says, "Peace Corps work does answer a need both at home and in the underdeveloped nations, which the contemporary church often fails to answer—especially when the church insists on converting people to a particular set of doctrines. When Peace Corps Volunteers make personal contact with nationals of other countries, when they show their willingness to share their own skills, while at the same time learning about the culture of the host country, tehy are helping to spread a doctrine that is no less than thoroughly Christian—whether the volunteer happens to be a Christian or not—and no more than simply human. This doctrine says something like this: 'I care about you, and we need each other'."

Miss Hill says that it is important to distinguish between the government's motives for maintaining a Peace Corps and the motives of the individual volunteer.

Miss Hill, who comes originally from North and South Carolina, is currently working on an M.A. degree in creative writing at San Francisco State College.

Sunday School

JOHN RUED, superintendent of the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church is observing Sunday School pupils led by Jean Smith (center) and Shirley Stone (right), both teachers. According to pastor Rev. Herbert Tweedie, "The Sunday School concept, begun in England in 1865, is a key factor in the spiritual and moral life of children, youth and adults."

Final Tour Set by Unit

Putting a final flourish on its series of tours of houses of worship and talks on the religions housed there, the YWCA will meet next Wednesday at 1:15 p.m. at the Social Hall of Temple Judea at 625 Brotherhood Way.

An open-question-answer period in which Rabbi Morris, Temple Judea; Father Kosturas, Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox; Mrs. Trice, Church of Christ; Elder Campbell, Mormon Church of Daly City, and Mr. Winterhate, of Holy Angels Catholic Church, will be giving short informative talks before opening it to discussion.

Refreshments will be served. There is no child-care, but you may bring children.

Jewish Speaker Will Be Hosted

Albert Vrspan, one of the best-known national spokesmen for the American Jewish community, will present a public lecture at the Brotherhood Way Jewish Community Center next Thursday night at 8 p.m.

His topic will be "The Changing Pattern of Interfaith Relations."

Vorspan is the author of "Giants of Justice," published in 1960.

He is also co-author, with Rabbi Eugene J. Lipman, of "Justice and Judaism," published by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations in 1956, now being brought up-to-date for its fifth printing, and "A Tale of Ten Cities," a study of religious tensions in American communities.

Vorspan has written on intergroup relations in Time, The Reporter and many other publications.

PORK CHOPS are a great favorite in my family and as a result appear on my table regularly. Recently there came to my attention a recipe for cooking pork chops in a casserole. I tried it and the results were so delicious that I want to pass it along to you good cooks.

EASIEST PORK CHOPS

4 pork chops, ¾-inch thick
2 teas. salt
½ teas. pepper
4 cups thinly sliced potatoes
1 medium onion, sliced
½ cup milk
1 can cream of mushroom soup

Trim excess fat from chops; score fat edges one inch apart to keep chops from curling while cooking. Brown chops well on both sides over medium heat in hot fat in large heavy frying pan.

Arrange chops in bottom of casserole, sprinkle with half of salt and pepper. Mix potatoes and onions and spread over pork chops. Sprinkle with remaining salt and pepper. Gradually add the milk to the soup, stirring until smooth. Pour over potatoes and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) one hour or until chops and potatoes are tender.

LATE SATURDAY afternoon I had a call from the office regarding a question one of you good cooks had about the English apple pie recipe that appeared in the column last week. Unfortunately, there was no way for me to contact the lady who called at that late time, so I will answer the question now. The question was about the topping crust and the fact that it was difficult to handle and cut into biscuits.

The crust consists of brown sugar, butter and flour and this mixture makes a very short sticky crust. The best way to handle it is to roll it out between two sheets of wax paper and then cut out the biscuits. Or to make it even easier, simply roll it out and lay it over the apples.

Now that we have talked so much about it, we had better repeat the recipe for any of you who don't have it. For it is a delicious dessert with this thick, sweet crust topping the spicy apples.

ENGLISH APPLE PIE

7 or 8 apples
1 cup sugar
1 teas. cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup flour
1 cube butter
1 cup brown sugar

Place one cup of sugar in the bottom of a large, deep baking dish and mix in the spices. Peel and slice apples and arrange over the sugar and spices. Then pour over all ½-cup of water.

Make a dough of the brown sugar, flour and butter. Make into biscuits large enough for one person, lay biscuits over apples. They will overlap forming an almost solid crust.

Bake in 400-degree oven for 15 minutes and then turn oven to 350 degrees and bake approximately 45 minutes or until apples are tender.

Top with whipped cream or ice cream, if desired.

Terra Nova 'Businessmen' Attend Meet

Twenty-one members of Terra Nova's Future Business Leaders of America, attended the Northern Section Conference of FBLA at Pleasant Hill High School October 16, 1965.

They journeyed to Pleasant Hill with one of their sponsors, Mr. Thompson, to meet with other officers and representatives of Northern California Schools.

The purpose of the conference was for the clubs to discuss common problems and learn new ideas. The group heard Mrs. Eloise Honett, dean of girls from Mt. Diablo High School, speak on "Leadership and Followship Go Steady."

Luncheon was served in the cafeteria and the day ended with a general meeting.

It was amounced that Terra Nova will host the Northern Section Conference on February 19, 1966.

Daly City Student Set to Star in S.F. State Play

Miller play of terrorism in colonial New England, will be depicted on stage of the San Francisco State College Little Theatre in a seven-performance run to be inaugurated at 8:30 p.m. next Friday.

In the leading role of John Proctor, senior student - actor David Regal, 22, from Daly City plays the victimized New Englander.

His wife, Elizabeth, is acted by Jean Marie Allison, 20, sophomore from Hawaii.

"The Crucible" is the second offering of the college's drama season. It follows the recent "Ballad of the Sad Cafe" and precedes the revival of "On the Town," the book-musical scheduled for opening on December 10.

Because of early demand for tickets to the compelling drama, an extra performance on Tuesday, November 16, has been instituted.

Direction is by Dal. Mackley, assistant professor of drama. He has produced earlier San Francisco State successes including "Five Finger Exercise" and "J.B."

Scenery of the play, set in the Salem, Mass., of 1692, is created by George Armstrong, assistant professor of drama. Lighting arrangements are by Robert Segrin, assistant professor of drama.

Fashion Show Is Set By Teeners

Our Lady of Perpetual Help Teen Club will hold a fashion show next Saturday at 2 p.m. at the church hall at 80 Wellington Avenue.

Clothes will be provided by New England Shop and The Fashion.

Tickets are $2 per person.

Meat and potatoes come in a single serving with this ground beef entree. Catchup or chili sauce is the primary seasoning.

Top Beef Squares With Mashed Potato

What do youngsters who have a hot lunch at school eat?

Beef Squares with Potato Topping is one popular main dish in this nationwide program of providing children with a hot meal, states a meat expert. It's served with vegetable, salads or relishes, milk and a dessert to give a well-balanced meal.

Lunch should provide a third of the day's nutrients. Served at school, it does. For many unfortunate children it's breakfast as well as lunch.

An easy-to-make main dish, Beef Squares with Potato Topping is here presented in a family sized version. The ground beef mixture spread in a 9x9-inch baking pan bakes in half an hour. Potato topping takes only a few minutes broiling.

BEEF SQUARES—
POTATO TOPPING

1½ pounds ground beef
cup catchup or chili sauce
1 cup soft whole wheat bread crumbs
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 egg, slightly beaten
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups hot, seasoned, mashed potatoes

Combine ground beef, catchup or chili sauce, bread crumbs, onion, egg, salt and pepper and mix well. Pack meat mixture into a 9x9-inch baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Spread mashed potatoes over meat. Place under the broiler until potatoes are lightly browned. Cut into six 3-inch squares. 6 servings.

Chili Beans —With Rice

When you are in a hurry, this pantryshelf special may fit in.

Chili Beans with Rice
Salad Bowl French Bread
Sliced pineapple Beverage

CHILI BEANS WITH RICE

2 cans (1 pound each) barbecue beans
1 teaspoon chili powder (or more to taste)
1 cup rice, cooked
1 cup grated cheddar cheese

In a large skillet, mix the beans and chili powder; heat slowly, stirring often. Serve over the rice and sprinkle with the cheese. Makes 4 large servings.

A Boiled Dressing for Sandwiches

Egg sandwiches benefit from being made with boiled dressing.

Egg Salad Sandwiches
With Boiled Dressing
Carrot Sticks With Ripe Olives
Gingerbread Red Apple

BOILED DRESSING

2 tablespoons regular flour
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon dry mustard
2 teaspoons sugar
1 large egg, slightly beaten
¾ cup milk
¼ cup cider vinegar
3 tablespoons butter or margarine

In the top of a double boiler, thoroughly stir together the flour, salt, mustard and sugar. Beat egg and milk enough to combine; gradually stir into flour mixture keeping smooth. Slowly stir in vinegar. Cook and stir constantly over hot (but not boiling) water until thickened. Remove from heat; stir in butter. Cover and chill. Makes about 1¼ cups.

Tropical flavor notes accent a second day serving of ham cut in cubes. Mandarin orange segments, pineapple tidbits and crystallized ginger blend beautifully with this meat served on rice.

Foreign Cookery Exotic, Adaptable

Foreign cookery certainly has its charm. When its exotic accents are adapted to American foods and seasonings adjusted, the ideas can give menus an inspiring lift.

Take, for example, ham cut in cubes from the leftover baked ham which has already made a splashy showing at its first appearance. The cubes are combined with fruits as well as their liquids thickened with cornstarch, perked with ginger, soy sauce and cinnamon.

Since all the foods are either cooked in advance or canned, it takes only a few minutes to put this dish together, advises a home economist. Use it soon as a luncheon entree when entertaining your club members.

The menu needs only a tossed green salad, coconut cake and tea with lemon for completion.

Polynesian Ham Cubes

1 pound cooked smoked ham, cut in ¾-inch cubes (about 3 cups)
1 can (11 ounces) mandarin orange segments
1 can (13½-ounces) pineapple tidbits
Water
2 tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons soy sauce
½ teaspoon chopped crystallized ginger or ¼-teaspoon ground ginger
2 teaspoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 cup sliced cooked celery
3 cups cooked rice

Drain orange segments and pineapple tidbits, reserving liquid. Add enough water to fruit liquid to make 2 cups liquid. Combine cornstarch and cinnamon in a saucepan. Add fruit liquid, soy sauce, ginger, onion and green pepper. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add ham, fruit and celery. Cook until heated through. Serve over rice. 6 to 8 servings.

ELEGANCE CAN be yours even when you're rushed. It takes only minutes to prepare a tempting "little supper" of Curried Chicken Livers in Patty Shells, mandarin orange and onion ring salad, chocolate pots de creme, and coffee.

Imagination for A Distinctive Meal

Who said sophisticated meals require hours of preparation time? Actually, a distinctive dinner can take little effort at all. One of the essentials is imagination—which can be triggered by a pantry shelf of convenience food items.

Curried Chicken Livers in Patty Shells is a dressed-up treat worthy of any guest or as a special treat for hubby on the evenings you two dine alone. Almost everything in the recipe is available on your pantry shelf or from the freezer. Smooth and savory canned giblet gravy melds the flavors of sauteed frozen chicken livers, curry, and chutney. There's no seasoning "guesswork" involved because the gravy itself has been seasoned by experts to provide the perfect flavor balance for you. Complement the sophisticated filling by serving it in crispy baked frozen patty shells.

Plan the rest of the menu to be as easy to prepare as the main course — use the extra minutes to make yourself glamorous for husband or guests. Toss a salad of greens, mandarin orange sections, and onion rings with bottled French dressing. Cook a frozen green vegetable, if you like, and prepare dessert from packaged chocolate pudding mix and top with whipped cream from a can.

Whenever dullness threatens your meal planning, reach for a can of gravy — beef, chicken, and mushroom in addition to giblet—for zesty meat or poultry dishes.

CURRIED CHICKEN LIVERS IN PATTY SHELLS

1 package (8 ounces) frozen chicken livers, thawed
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon curry powder
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) giblet gravy
¼ cup chopped chutney
1 teaspoon lemon juice
3 patty shells

In saucepan, cook livers, celery, onion, and curry in butter until livers are done and celery is tender. Add remaining ingredients except patty shells. Heat; stir now and then. Serve in patty shells. Makes 3 servings.

Meatballs Are Cooked With Beer

Look what's happened to meatballs!

They've acquired a brand new personality, thanks to the Schaefer chefs at the World's Fair who employed the age-old culinary art of cooking with beer.

The Schaefer chefs have christened this specially created recipe, Meatballs Gambrinus, after a mythical 13th century German ruler. King Gambrinus actually is thought to have been John I, who was killed in a tournament in 1294. His name has been revered among brewers for centuries as the patron saint of beer.

It was poor King Gambrinus' misfortune to pass on before he could sample the dish that bears his name: Tender, juicy meatballs delicately seasoned with the malty essence of beer, nestling in a bed of hot buttered noodles, and smothered with a savory brown beer - flavored gravy. Top off with a dessert of spicy, flakey-crusted strudel. Truly royal fare!

MEATBALLS GAMBRINUS

2 slices white bread, cubed
1 can (12 ounces) beer
1 pound ground beef
½ cup shredded American process cheese
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon beef stock base

Soak bread cubes in ½ cup beer. Combine beef, cheese, salt, pepper, and bread mixture. Mix well. Shape into 16 meatballs. Brown in butter or margarine. Remove meatballs. Cook onion in remaining drippings until tender. Stir in sugar, vinegar, beef stock base and remaining beer. Place meatballs in sauce. Cover. Cook over low heat 20 minutes. Thicken gravy if desired. Serve on hot buttered noodles. Makes four servings.

Chocolate Cookies for Your Dessert

Cookies for dessert today and some for the rest of the week!

Chicken and Rice Casserole
Green Peas Salad Bowl
Chocolate Walnut Cookies

CHOCOLATE WALNUT COOKIES

½ cup butter or margarine
¾ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 large eggs
2 envelopes (each 1 ounce) no-melt chocolate
2-3 cup unsifted regular flour
1 cup chopped (medium fine) walnuts

In a medium mixing bowl, cream butter and sugars. Thoroughly beat in eggs, one at a time, then no-melt chocolate. Stir in flour and walnuts; mixture will be very soft. Drop level tablespoonsful of batter, 2 inches apart, on greased and floured cookie sheets. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven until bottom of cookies are lightly browned but tops are still soft—about 8 or 9 minutes. With a wide spatula, remove at once to wire racks; when cold, store in tightly covered container. Makes 4 dozen.

SSF Ball League Reports Results

The Police Athletic League in South San Francisco reported over 250 boys took part in forming 14 teams during a summer program.

Results on the score boards are as follows: a first place championship was captured by the PAL Chiefs in the Pony League, a city-wide sponsored group run by the South San Francisco Managers Association in connection with the Recreation Department for boys 15 and under.

A second place was won by the PAL Sergeants in the 13 and under league. In the Midget League, a clean sweep was taken of first place by the PAL Detectives, second by the PAL Captains and third place by the PAL Sergeants.

Bowling leagues are being organized at Brentwood Alleys, reports Lt. Al Klemme.

A meeting is planned for the PAL organization in the next few weeks to determine future program and plans.

The PAL Kingsmen and color guard also chalked up a good record in recent activities. In Newark first place in parade was won, and the color guard took second place at Castroville. The group took first in parade and field contest and also first at Salinas. Drum Major Louie Riccardi placed second at Salinas, as did color guard captain Debbie Barbetti.

In October the Kingsmen placed second in the field championship and second in parade performance held at Santa Clara.

Bill Borba, organizer for the color guard girls, reports they are at work with their new instructor, Bianci Lee, from San Francisco getting ready to compete in the color guard circuit in Northern California.

Included in their plans are to increase their numbers from 14 to 17 and they hope to have from 20 to 24 girls for next year's parade season.

Marines in 190th Year

The year 1965 marks the 190th year in Marine Corps history that has found them answering the call to trouble.

They have been deployed twice this year to opposite sides of the world to protect American interests and preserve freedom.

In Santo Domingo, the Marines were prepared for street fighting and riot control.

In Viet Nam they're fighting guerrillas in their native habitat.

Planners Told Off By Angry Grand Juror

The chairman of a County Grand Jury committee angrily scolded the County Planning Commission last week because the committee was kept waiting for an appointment.

The committee showed up at 1:30 but was told that, because the commission's regular meeting was taking longer than planned, the meeting would be postponed until 3 o'clock. But it was 3:35 before the regular session ended.

Claude Hirschey, chairman of the planning commission, aoplogized to the grand jurors because the meeting had run so long.

"We can't run this like the Southern Pacific Railroad," Hirschey said.

The grand jury committee chairman, William H. Kennedy, did not acknowledge the apology, however.

"I don't think this is fair to us," Kennedy declared. "We were shoved back on the agenda for no good reason at all."

Kennedy, president of an electrical company, asserted that the commission should have put the committee on the agenda for a stated time and then drop everything else, if necessary, to keep the appointment.

Planning Director Reino Liukkonen explained that when the 1:30 appointment was scheduled, the hour was chosen because the last item on the regular agenda was scheduled for that time.

He thought it best, he said, if the commission met with the grand jurors after the regular business was completed.

BRIGHT LIGHTS
Entertainment and Dining
by LLOYD JOHNSON

Nick's and the Turtle Food and Entertainment

A VISIT WITH MARDI GOCHANOUR, manager of NICK'S and the TURTLE out Pacifica way, revealed that business was never better. "Please tell your BRIGHT LIGHT readers that the Turtle restaurant and cocktail lounge is open Wednesday through Sunday serving dinners only," said the busy manager. Incidentally, PETER RANGAVES' music is featured Friday and Saturday nights for dancing. At Nick's, the "home office," food and entertainment are going at top speed. Breakfast, luncheon and dinner service. THE 3 BEATS, Vocalist MARY ANN HAY, and DON KELLY are in the spotlight here . . . Again I alert you: It's only a few calendar flips until the big holiday season so now's the time to make party reservations. The BRENTWOOD LODGE phone number is JU 3-6263.....A completely-remodeled restaurant that features sure-menu-winners is the ERCOLI BROTHERS LEANING TOWER in South San Francisco. Plenty of parking space . . . Ever hear of a restaurant serving "All the steak you can eat" for $1.50? Well you have now! The Redwood City KING'S TABLE serves just that every Monday evening—and they're broiled New Yorks.

CREDIT MANAGERS ASS'N., led by Veep G. C. Swanson, held their dinner-meeting in the Chandelier Room at Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco . . . Al St. Claire, popular singing star at Finocchio's in San Francisco, was just married in Reno and thus automatically became a grandfather before he could reach the status of a father. His bride is Lois Dana of Long Beach, who, at the age of 36 years, is a grandmother, having a 20-year-old son who is a father. Joe and Eve Finocchio honored the newlyweds by taking them, with all the members of the Finocchio cast, on a cruise of San Francisco Bay on their yacht. The trip climaxed with a picnic at Angel Island.

EXTRA-SPECIAL PLEASURE when dining at FRED and JERRY RAPP'S popular South San Francisco HOLIDAY INN. Flavorful food, delightful atmosphere and excellent music provided by the GARY LONG TRIO have made this a Peninsula favorite for any occasion . . . LEE ARNAUX, singing star of the "Topless Plus" revue at the CHI CHI on San Francisco's swinging Broadway, is another Judy Garland. This gal can really sing! . . . DON DIANDA, bossman at DOROS gourmet restaurant, says horseshoes are NOT lucky! "I bet on one that had four of them and he finished last!" . . . Eye-opening decor changes at the LA HACIENDA INN in Los Gatos. Owned by veteran restaurateurs CHARLES MOROSIN, DICK BOHN and CARL SPANN, the Inn is one of the most elegant restaurants in the Bay Area.

PLATEAU 7, the elegant sky-high gourmet restaurant in San Jose, is the dining mecca for countless Peninsula and San Francisco connoisseurs, who swarm in to feast upon Chef HERMAN SCHNEIDER'S culinary arts. Call ANDRE GUBBELS, the friendly maitre d', for your reservations now . . . Look for the VILLA HOTEL to open its new COFFEE HOUSE in about two weeks. The opening date will be announced in BRIGHT LIGHTS . . . An authentic bit of Japan has been transplanted to the San Jose SAKURA GARDENS in the lovely person of YUIKI SUEHIRO, who entertains the patrons with her piano renditions. You will also enjoy traditional Japanese dining in a distinctive atmosphere. For those not wanting to make the trek to San Jose, you'll find a Sakura Gardens located on El Camino Real in Mountain View.

Now Joel Hill And Joni Lyman

Continuing the Go-Go policy of combining beautiful girls, fast-paced comedy, and first-rate rock 'n' roll singers, Tiger-A-Go-Go bossman Bill Gilbert is now featuring Joel Scott Hill and vivacious Joni Lyman at his popular night spot located upstairs in the Hilton Inn at the Airport.

Menu Surprises At Rudolfo's

The well known Alfinito brothers, Harry, George, Rudy and Al, who spark the restaurant operation at Rudolfo's in Palo Alto, have some menu surprises in store for their many customers. Food wise, you'll be smart to be in dining room attendance when they introduce them. Rudolfo's is rated by many as one of the leading Italian restaurants in the Bay Area-Peninsula.

Mac's Tea Room To Front–Fast

The unique Mac's Tea Room is becoming internationally known, and such fame derives basically from two factors—excellent food and top management. Owner Bob Whitacre takes discreet interest in the welfare and comfort of each of his patrons.

Mary Gordon, a Sophie Tucker-type, entertains at the piano during the evening dinner hours and cocktail sessions.

Lew Lehr had an imposing group of civic officials steaking at his Marina dinery in San Francisco, last week—top men from Roseville, San Clemente, Montebello, Concord, Lodi and Redlands.

Hear ye, hear ye: The Villa Chartier, a dining tradition since 1925, is THE place for those delicious Maine Lobsters. Flown in fresh daily and served the same evening.

Al King Bets 'em All

Al King, entertainment "booker", is enjoying a "Day at the Races" today. In fact, Joe Cohen, general manager of Bay Meadows and the California Jockey Club, has named a race in his honor.

"I know I'll have a ticket on the winner," said Al before leaving for the track, "'cause I'm betting every horse in the race."

This kid really has a system!

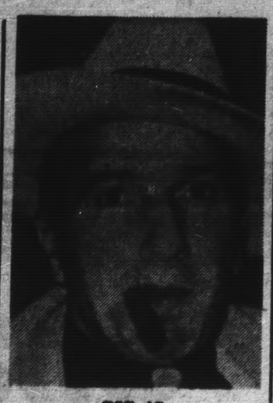
Billy Tavake's Polynesian Show

The Holiday Weekends at the always-jumping Caravan Inn in Mountain View are a ball for everyone—and inexpensive, too. Check in Friday night, have dinner and enjoy Billy Tavake's wild Polynesian show. Saturday, all tasty meals are included, as well as poolside room. Swim and relax until check-out time Sunday, 5 p.m. Pay only $21 per person (double occupancy) for the whole "schmeer." What a buy for three days and two nights of luxury!

Cameo Club Has Many Features

Chuck Waugaman's Cameo Club offers a wide diversity in entertainment. Eye-catching waitresses, buxom dancers, and clever comics, along with a bevy of pretty female vocalists, combine a must-see show. Many of the country's top instrumentalists are also Cameo Club features.

The flower garden swimming pool at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel was in "full bloom" during the late hot spell. The "prettiest flowers" in the garden were the United Airline hostesses, who make the Benjamin Franklin Hotel their "home away from home."



BIG AL
Big Al's — North Beach, S.F.

Big Al To Invade Bay Meadows Track

One of the "social" events of the season will take place at Bay Meadows when Big Al, the San Francisco North Beach nitery tycoon, brings his staff "to post" on the day Joe Cohen, general manager of California Jockey Club, sets up a race in Big Al's honor.

What a colorful affair this will be! Big Al will be wearing a white suit—with all the haberdashery trimmings — and an ever-in-hand 14 inch cigar in smoking position. I'll clue you on the day as soon as it's announced.

The Gourmet Table, located a short sprint from Bay Meadows Race Track, offers complete dinners which include Chinese, Mexican, Italian and American dishes—"All you can eat" for just $1.50. Look for luncheons to be served here the first part of November. As of now dinners only from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m.

"Tonight's the Night" At Scotty Campbell's

Tonight's the night! Head your "covered wagons" in the direction of Scotty Campbell's restaurant in Redwood City to help celebrate "Old California Night."

Besides enjoying one of the best prime rib, steak, or spare rib dinners you'll ever taste, Theresa, Mary Lou, and Bud, host-owners of this wonderfully appointed restaurants, have planned a big entertainment surprise in the persons of the Eight Mariachis, who will sing and play "South of the Border" music from 7 p.m. until the wee morn hours.

If this special fun-time proves to be a big attendance hit, look for the Scotty Campbell's crew to keep it going.

Leila, the Moulin Rouge's dancing star of "From Russia With Love" movie fame, has so many women asking her to teach them how to belly dance that she's thinking of opening a school for them—in San Francisco.

One of the biggest dinner values in the East Bay is the Hotel Claremont's complete prime rib cart service dinner in the Prime Rib Room (only $3.95).

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

What is malocclusion?

Malocclusion is irregularity of tooth position and poor fitting together of the teeth on closing the jaws. Such irregularity not only may interfere with chewing and with speech but also may lead to disease of the gums and other supporting structures of the teeth (periodontal disease). Malocclusion may also produce deformities of the face. Ask your Dentist about malocclusion and its treatment if needed.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit the practice to the making of dental plates, recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Pacifica Man Is Promoted

Robert W. St. Yves of 1151 Fernandez Way in Pacifica has been named manager of the San Francisco-Geary Boulevard offices of The Morris Plan Company of California, Ralph N. Larson, president of Morris Plan, announced today.

St. Yves succeeds Marion H. Eddy, an assistant secretary of the statewide financial company, who has been transferred to the Oakland office.

A native of St. Paul, Minn., St. Yves worked for five years in the credit field before joining Morris Plan in 1964 as a trainee at the Daly City-Westlake office.

He joined the staff of the Geary Boulevard office when it first opened in June of last year.

Man's Mind Explored

Three of the nation's top explorers in the unknown realms of the mind of man will headline a major College of San Mateo community education series on "The Cutting Edge of Change in Human Perception," opening tomorrow.

Their lectures will be given in the California Teachers' Association building, 1705 Murchison Dirve, Burlingame.

Leadoff speaker will be Dr. Sidney Cohen, chief of psychiatry at a Veterans' Administration Hospital in Southern California, associate clinical professor at University of California, Los Angeles, and a recognized authority on LSD. His subject, dealing with LSD, will be "The Beyond Within."

He will be followed on November 18 by Dr. J. B. Rhine, a leading researcher and writer in the field of extrasensory perception, who will talk on "Explorations in ESP."

Final lecture in the series, December 2, will be delivered by Dr. Rollo May, psychoanalyst, professor of clinical psychology at New York University and author of several well-known books. Dr. May's topic will be "Creativity and the Unconscious."

Time schedule for the programs is 8 to 10 p.m.

Series tickets, may be ordered in advance from the college box office. Checks payable to College of San Mateo may be sent to the box office on the campus.

$22,000,000 in Homes Being Built in East Bay

Homes valued at more than $22 million are under construction in Volk-McLain's San Ramon, the five-year-old planned community located in the East Bay's Livermore-Amador Valley.

The nearly 1,000 homes being built by six different developers represent the largest single construction boom ever in the community, whose 4,500 total acres formerly were wheat and barley fields.

During the first four years of the community's development, Volk-McLain Communities, Inc., built about 3,000 single-family homes, the San Ramon Village Shopping Center, the San Ramon Country Club, incuding a championship 18-hole golf course, and other community facilities.

Recently, however, Volk-McLain has expanded its development program and sold acreage to other developers for residential, commercial, and industrial construction.

In addition to the increased residential construction activity wihch resulted, there is also under construction a 30-acre, $6 million regional shopping center, San Ramon Town Center, which is being developed by Republic Properties of San Francisco.

Four major homebuilding firms — Alpha Land Company, American Housng Guild, Duc & Elliot and Proud Homes —have opened large subdivisions in the community within the last two months.

The first unit of Alpha Land's Fairway Hills consists of 103 three and four-bedroom homes priced from $25,950 to $30,000. The single and split-level homes are located within the golf course, with more than two-thirds of the lots bordering the course.

American Housing Guild's Redwing Valley has 161 homes, with prices ranging from $19,950 to $23,950. There are four separate models in the subdivision, two-three bedroom homes, a four bedroom and a two-story five bedroom.

Villa de San Ramon, the Duc & Elliott addition to the community, has 300 lots, with seven models from which to choose. The models include two three-bedroom plans, three four - bedroom homes, a five-bedroom and a six-bedroom. Prices of Villa de San Ramon homes range from $20,700 to $23,300.

The Proud Homes entry is Ecco Park of San Ramon, which will have 300 three- and four - bedroom homes priced from $17,950 to $20,950.

There are some Volk-McLain homes available in Sunny Glen, San Ramon's aduk community, with prices starting at $15,150 for a two-bedroom model. An expansion of the Sunny Glen subdivision is planned in the near future.

Also under construction is Sovereign Place, a subdivision of 86 de luxe duplex units costing between $35,000 and $38,000. The developers, Sovereign Development Company of Hayward, said models will be open about November 1.

Buyers in any of the developments will benefit from the facilities of the San Ramon community, including the two shopping centers, centrally located schools and golf, swimming and tennis at the country club.

San Ramon straddles the Alameda - Contra Costa County line two miles north of the intersection of Highways 21 and 50.

Stairway to Lovely Home

CASTILLO De ORO—one of five new models on display at Sunset in Livermore. This residential community will eventually have 3,200 homes and is distinguished by a very wide variety of choices in models-some with as many as five bedrooms, sunken living rooms, oak flooring and private sun terraces overlooking the Livermore Valley and the foothills beyond.

Tile Foyer-Handcrafted Oak

A gracious terrazzo tile foyer, dominated by a richly handicraft sweeping oak stair case, distinguishes the Castillo de Oro, new home model in Livermore's community of Sunset.

One of five models in a newly opened section of Sunset, the two-story home is a harmonious blending of space, convenience and individuality, says Masud Mehran, president of Sunset Homes.

The Castillo de Oro has four bedrooms and two and one-half baths. Three bedrooms and two baths are on the second floor, conveniently apart from the living, dining and kitchen area on the first floor. It is also available in a five-bedroom version.

A room on the first floor may be used as either a bedroom or den.

An unusual feature of the master bedroom suite is a spacious private sun terrace overlooking extensive vineyards of the scenic Livermore Valley and the foothills beyond.

Full length mirrors on sliding closet (wardrobe) doors and a large bath are other attractions of the master bedroom suite.

Sonoma stone accents this exterior of the home and is used tastefully to give character to the sunken living room.

Select oak plank flooring has been used in the living room and dining area which are separated from the family room by an all-electric kitchen.

A breakfast bar and breakfast nook are located adjacent to the kitchen. Kitchen cabinets are custom made of ash.

A five-foot overhang shelters a planting area along the front of the Castillo de Oro under the large living room window.

Homes in the new area being developed by Sunset Homes are priced from $17,995 to $26,700.

A distinctive feature of the new area is a sales pavilion.

The pavilion provides a comfortable, convenient building in which to complete transactions involving home purchase, explained Mehran.

The building has photographic displays of the community of Sunset, which eventually will number 3,200 homes. (1,800 are now built), and a large scale mock-up of the community.

At present the community has two elementary schools, a Senior high school, shopping center, Cabana Club and two apartment complexes.

A Junior high school is in the development stage. To be built soon are additions to the shopping center and a medical-dental office building.

Sunset Model Homes can be reached by taking the San Mateo Bridge to Highway 50, to the Livermore turnoff. Models are open until dusk every day.

Realtors Reveal 'Great Response'

Memberships in the Property Owners Division of the San Mateo-Burlingame Board of Realtors are coming in by the hundreds it was announced today by Irving Doughty, chairman of the membership campaign for the Board.

"The response from our advertisement in last Saturday's Times and this week's Foster City Progress was tremendous" declared Doughty, partner in the San Mateo real estate firm of Grow & Doughty.

We are continuing our campaign again this week in our advertisement in The Times Real Estate Section and are publishing the membership coupon which we hope will bring hundreds of additional members. It costs only $3 a year."

The Property Owners Division has employed a staff of experts to work in the state capital, the county courthouse and the city halls to analyze and report to property owners new legislation that may have an affect on them as taxpayers. Regular reports will be made to each member in printed bulletins and when adverse legislation is in the works members will be notified so that they can write, wire or phone their representatives and tell them how they feel about it.

"The major problem in the past is that we as property owners did not know until a bill was being voted on what its affect would be on citizens who own their homes or other property. With our new organization we find out before the bill goes to committee when we can have a tremendous affect on its content and to urge that it be passed or killed," declared Doughty.

He further pointed out that the success of the program depends on home owners joining in large enough numbers to pay the costs of this exhaustive job of research that must continue on a day in and day out basis.

"We hope to have at least 25,000 members in San Mateo County and this will prove a potent political force in guiding our State Assemblymen and Senator on how they should vote in the interests of the taxpayers," Doughty declared.

"Rigth now we are fighting hard to stop passage of the real estate transfer tax which will cost property owners, buyers and sellers 1 per cent to 1½ per cent each time they sell their property. Senator Dolwig and Assemblyman Britschigi have both gone on record as opposing the transfer tax which was proposed by "Big Daddy" Unruh. No word has been received from Assemblyman Leo Ryan as to how he stands on the issue."

Doughty urged home owners to send in the coupon from today's Times with their check for $3 and reports will start coming to them at once.

LEADERS—J. R. McInerney, L. H. Schulte, and Arthur J. Sassone are shown together following a meeting in the offices of G. Coakley & Company, where they announced a plan to jointly promote the area of Santa Clara County they have labeled the "northeast valley." As part of the six-week promotion, a 21-inch G-E Color TV will be given away by a drawing.

Builders Join in Project For 3,500 Valley Homes

Promotion Tells Benefits

Three of Santa Clara County's largest builders have entered into a joint advertising campaign to promote the northeast valley area, where their present developments will eventually comprise more than 3,500 homes. The builders are Arthur J. Sassone, Parktown; J. R. McInerney, Starlite Pines, and L. H. Schulte, Pines, and L. H. Schulte, Main Street Square and Northwood Park.

This unique co-operative plan was conceived by Sassone, who believes it is a practical way to give prospective home buyers a thorough understanding of this rapidly developing area of the county. When asked what he considered the boundaries of the "northeast valley," Sassone referred to Milpitas and the northern limits of San Jose, east of Highway 17.

McInerney, who has been building homes in this area for 11 years endorsed the promotion and emphasized that few people realized the many benefits offered in the northeast valley. The area has a scenic public golf course in Spring Valley; highly rated schools; numerous shopping centers, and extensive recreational facilities. Milpitas, which calls itself the "city of parks" because of their growing number, has enthusiastic hopes for wider public knowledge of the area to be brought about by the promotion.

L. H. Schulte, a prominent builder who has two subdivisions in the northeast valley, commented on the area's close proximity by stating it is only a seven minute drive to the Valley Fair—Town & Country Village — Emporium shopping complex on Stevens Creek Blvd., in San Jose, and ten minutes to Lockheed in Sunnyvale and General Motors in Fremont.

Schulte added that another advantage of the "northeast valley" to home buyers is the lower land cost, which allows developers to build and sell bigger homes for less money than they can in the south or west sides of San Jose.

As an added invitation to the public, a 21" GE Color TV will be given away FREE at a drawing. To enter, prospective home buyers need only to visit one of the sales offices at either Starlite Pines, Parktown, Main Street Square or Northwood Park. If all four locations are visited, participants will have four chances to win.

Saratoga Sales Hit $11,000,000

Nearly $11 million in home sales brings to an end Saratoga's most successful development of luxury homes, the Brown and Kauffmann development of Prides Crossing.

Three hundred homes have been sold at an average price of $35,000 in less than three years. Only eight homes and six model home lots are yet to be sold from the extensive Saratoga acreage now covered by the three-to-six-bedroom Brown and Kauffmann homes. Partners Wayne R. Brown and S. H. Kauffmann believe that no other builders in the Santa Clara Valley have equalled this record number of homes sold in this price range.

During these years, two of the homes—split-level and a court-yard plan—have won national awards for good design and planning. The Prides Crosisng models are located just off Prospect Road between Saratoga Avenue and Highway 9 in the City of Saratoga. Similar Brown and Kauffmann homes are currently being constructed in the Almaden Country Club and Dry Creek Road areas of San Jose, in Los Altos, Oakland, Marin County and in the San Ramon Country Club near Danville in Contra Costa County. The company also built and operates Cherryhill Garden Apartments in Sunnyvale.

Grand Prize for Design and Quality Goes to Mackay's 4-Bedroom Model

Many Top Design Ideas

Mackay Homes has introduced a new 4-bedroom, 2-bath model at "The Woodlands," their 450-home planned community in Walnut Creek. In describing this elegant ranch-type home, L. E. Newman, vice president in charge of marketing for Mackay Homes, pointed out that the floor plan offers the same basic room layout and design features as The Woodlands' largest selling model, No. 6204, which was recently awarded a grand prize for design and quality in American Builder Magazine's national contest. In this new model No. 6904, the master bedroom has been placed to the rear and four new exterior elevations have been introduced.

Masterfully planned and built, this new model abounds in superb design features and custom-quality appointments. Included are tiled entry with decorative wrought-iron railing, sunken living room with cathedral-beamed ceiling and massive, raised-hearth fireplace, paneled family room with sliding glass doors to the patio. The master bedroom features a private bath with dressing area and sliding glass doors to the rear patio.

Mackay offers six other award-winning 3 and 4-bedroom floor plans and 12 different ranch-type and two-story elevations. All Woodlands homes are built on spacious 8,500 square foot lots and include a host of top quality features including deluxe all-electric kitchen with built-in double oven, range, dishwasher and disposer . . . used brick or slumpstone fireplace . . . perimeter heating . . . tiled entry . . . shake roof . . . fencing, side and rear . . . and complete selection of interior and exterior color scheme.

The Woodland's picturesque setting in Ygnacio Valley affords its residents the peace and quiet of a secluded orchard location and all the modern conveniences of a superbly planned Mackay community. An especially attractive family feature is the Cabana Club which offers swimming and recreational facilities for the exclusive use of Woodlands residents. Membership is included with the purchase of a Woodlands home.

Woodlands home prices range from $27,500 to $30,950 with GI, FHA and conventional financing available.

Furnished model homes are open from 10 a.m. to dusk, seven days a week. Information can be obtained by telephoning 934-6178.

To reach The Woodlands, drive east from Oakland on Highway 24 through the Broadway Tunnel. Follow Mt. Diablo Freeway to Ygnacio Valley turnoff in Walnut Creek. Drive approximately 3 miles to The Woodlands entrance.

veloped, or is developing, 6,154 acres in various parts of California; and completed 47 projects which house 50,000 people.

Primarily a home development firm, Volk-McLain recently turned its attention to selling acreage to other developers for residential, commercial and industrial construction within Volk-McLain planned communities.

This expansion into new fields has been accomplished at San Ramon in the East Bay, the most ambitious Volk-McLain project to date. When development is completed, San Ramon's 4,500 acres will house 50,000 people and will be a complete planned community, including two major shopping centers, an industrial park and a country club, which features an 18-hole golf course and swimming and tennis facilities.

McLain, who personally has charge of the firm's financial, land acquisition and sales activities, lists flying as one of his hobbies, and he pilots the company aircraft from Los Angeles to San Ramon about once a week.

Screening Helps To Sell Houses

NEW YORK (UPI) — What the prospective home buyer sees at the front door can help smooth the way to a quicker sale, according to an authority on selling existing homes.

One of the first things noted by realtors when they inspect a property is whether it has aluminum combination screen-and-storm door and combination windows all around the house.

live in the Northeast Valley where living begins...

The Northeast Valley is the region nestled against the towering Mt. Hamilton range, north of Berryessa Road and east of the Nimitz Freeway. The mainstream of humanity crowding Santa Clara County pass by it, leaving the scenic countryside unsurpassed in natural beauty. These spacious lands, rich in early California lore, offer you room to move, to live. The air is crisp, clean, exhilarating. As a matter of fact, the Northeast Valley enjoys noticeably cooler summers and drier winters than the westside of the Valley.

Golf, swimming, tennis, casual picnics in shaded parks will occupy leisure moments. There are summer recreation programs for adults and children and little theatre groups are active. The Milpitas Youth Center sponsors supervised dances and other teenage programs.

Highly-rated grammar, junior, and high schools are usually within walking distance, or else bus service is provided.

Modern shopping centers for the day-to-day family needs are conveniently located near residential areas. Major stores in San Jose are only 15 minutes away.

Business and entertainment centers of the peninsula, San Francisco, and Oakland are easily reached from nearby freeways.

Land costs are lower in the Northeast Valley. This means more home for your dollar. Better resale opportunities if you're transferred.

The Northeast Valley is not delineated on a map because it's as much a state of mind as it is a locale. You'll know you've arrived when you start to smile! To quicken your "smileage" we have provided a map to guide you. Visit us today!

San Bruno Design Wins

Fisher-Friedman Associates AIA and Associate Robert J. Geering, Burlingame Architects and Planning Consultants, announced that their San Bruno house design in the Stoneson Monte Verde Development won an honorable mention award in the 1965 Homes for Better Living Awards Program sponsored by the American Institute of Architects and House and Home magazine, the largest residential design program in the country. The honorable mention was the highest award made in its category of Merchant-built houses from $25,000 to $35,000, and one of eight Northern California designs to win in the national awards program. Out of 32 awards in the country, Fisher-Friedman Associates won an unprecedented three awards, each the highest in its category.

The architects designed the San Bruno house to provide for as much outdoor living as possible by providing a protected inner atrium as well as a redwood deck. A variety of interior spaces are created by expressing the major living areas with peaked roofs and different ceiling materials. Attractive beamed ceilings throughout are dramatically punctuated in the living-dining and family-kitchen areas by peaks finished in textured acoustical plaster and with open glassed ends.

The San Bruno house will be published in House and Home and California Home magazine and will be exhibited at the annual convention of the American Institute of Architects in Washington, D.C.

Western Flair In A New Community

A new community is in the making on the southern city limits of Walnut Creek adjacent to Alamo. Since early this year, construction of new homes has proceeded at a lively pace in Paddock Hills, the Whitecliff Homes operation on Livorna Road. A goodly number of people already call Paddock Hills "Home" and with many scheduled to move in to new homes as they are completed, in the months ahead, this area bids fair to become one of Walnut Creek's most desirable residential showplaces.

When the new Alamo Elementary School opened in September, this focused new attention on the Paddock Hills development under construction by Whitecliff Homes.

The new school, located on a knoll adjacent to the model homes, has been planned to offer classes for children in kindergarten through the fifth grade.

Paddock Hills will ultimately provide homes for 350 families. The development is within Walnut Creek near the Round Hill Country Club nearly midway between Alamo and downtown Walnut Creek.

Featuring homes with a western flair, Paddock Hills offers ready access to most Easthay cities via the new Oakland-Walnut Creek Freeway and the Livorna Road off-ramp.

Five model homes, ranging in size up to 2,300 square feet, are on display. Whitecliff Homes partners Paul C. Petersen and Robert Moretti conceived Paddock Hills as basically contemporary ranch-style —but each model offers a series of architectural options to assure individuality and family preference.

Zoned living to place the accent on a smooth flow of interior traffic — a Whitecliff tradition—is one of many features in the new development. four-bedroom homes with two or two and a half baths also lends variety.

Paddock Hills occupies the former Richard F. Dailey Ranch, acquiring its name through Dailey's career as a breeder and trainer of prized Arabian horses and thoroughbred race horses.

The homes are priced from $27,950 to $34,950, with many options available.

Enjoy Outdoors The Year Around

California families can now enjoy the great outdoors all year 'round without the necessity of maintaining town and country residences. Modern expressways, shorter work hours and the built-in desire of Californians to enjoy the recreational facilities of this great state add up to one thing: development of recreation-oriented communities which offer families the convenience of year-round vacation living.

With this end in mind, Alvin Hoffman, pioneer in land development, immediately saw the potential in property he discovered high in the foothills overlooking Anderson Reservoir in Morgan Hill. He decided the setting would be ideal for the development of a true California custom home development, complete with boating, fishing, golfing, and dramatic scenery.

His dream, which he called Holiday Lake Estates, has become a thriving reality. "The purpose of creating a recreation-oriented community such as Holiday Lake Estates is to give the public an opportunity to live on half-acre homesites in the country without isolating themselves from the all-important city centers," stated Hoffman. "Here at Holiday Lake we have our own community golf course, driving range, putting green, boating and fishing facilities. Wild-life abounds in the wooded hillsides, and residents relax in an environment far removed from the normal existence of subdivision living . . . an environment that offers privacy without rudeness," he concluded.

Hoffman said lot sizes within the development are a minimum of one-half acre and priced from $6,450 to $15,000 for water-front lots with excellent terms. Buyers have the opportunity of choosing from a variety of plans available through the Holiday Lake Building Company, or selecting a builder of their choice.

Federal Government Helps Enforce Code

WASHINGTON — The federal government is offering to help cities enforce their local housing codes.

Officials here see stepped-up code enforcement as a third approach to urban renewal and one that can go hand-in hand with slum clearance and rehabilitation. They say some cities could do with all three.

Code enforcement is cheaper, too. It costs the government less to make a homeowner fix up his house at his own expense than to tear it down and rebuild it or fix it up at government expense.

Urban renewal thinkers believe that many buildings in basically sound condition can be saved from the bulldozer if only their owners are made to comply with a reasonable housing code.

Ever since 1949, cities that wanted federal money for slum clearance have been required to adopt a housing code. A code requires such things as a toilet and a tub or shower in every house, safe electrical wiring, fire exits, etc.

But while they've adopted codes, many cities have never done much about enforcing them. So last year Congress decided to start nudging city hall with dollar bills.

Here's how a city can go about qualifying for federal money for code enforcement:

First of all, there must be a city-wide system of codes already on the books, then the city council must pick some part of the city for a real enforcement campaign. The project area must be small enough so there's a good chance all the buildings there can be brought up to snuff within two years.

The area must be predominantly residential. Congress wants to shift the emphasis in urban renewal back to housing. The feeling is that too much renewal money has been going for commercial redevelopment.

At least one out of five buildings in the project area must be run down mainly because the owners have failed to comply with the city's existing codes.

The area must be basically sound. The government doesn't want to spend money enforcing housing codes only to see the buildings torn down a year later.

Finally, the city must have a relocation program to take care of anyone who might be forced to move because of code enforcement.

As with other types of urban renewal, the federal government will pay 66 cents on the dollar for code enforcement, and the city will have to pay 33 cents. Certain small or poverty-stricken cities will have to pay only 25 cents.

There are special rules to prevent a city from meeting its share of a project simply by taking money away from its regular code enforcement elsewhere in town.

COLD AIR OUT

PITTSBURGH — A flexible magnetic stripping that for many years has kept cold air in refrigerators is now being used on steel residential doors to keep cold air out of apartments and houses, according to United States Steel engineers.

The new magnetic weather stripping grips the steel door upon closing and provides a positive seal against cold drafts and heat loss.

Classic Colonial Popular

THIS CLASSIC Dutch Colonial model is one of the most popular selling homes at Traditional Homes Burlingame.

New Burlingame Quality Homes

Traditional Homes of Burlingame, one of the most successful developments on the San Francisco Peninsula, has announced the start of quality home construction of their last unit in the Mills Estate section of Burlingame. The event marks the final stage of completion of the 200 homes, eight and a half million dollar project and an end to single family residential construction in the Mills Estate, one of the last remaining undeveloped parcels in the upper Peninsula.

According to Peter Ingber, vice president of the Alpha Land Company, developers of Traditional Homes, "Our spectacular sales record has indeed been due, in part, to the superb location of our homes. We only wish we had more land available on which to build." The last unit of homes in the Mills Estate represents the last chance to acquire a new home on the west side of Burlingame.

The reasons for the high desirability of the area are many. The weather is ideal. Over the years, Burlingame has gained a reputation second to none as a prestigeous community. Its schools are excellent. Its churches, recreation and shopping facilities are unexcelled. Downtown San Francisco is just 20 minutes away, making it convenient for work or personal enjoyment. Many of the lots command a sweeping view of the Bay.

The prime location is only part of the success story of Traditional Homes, however. The homes are also extraordinary. With three, four and five-bedroom models, with both one and two-story levels, the homes offer up to 2,500 square feet of living space in a wide variety of authentic traditional stylings, as its name implies.

Among the best selling models at Traditional Homes are two extremely large California ranch houses, a Monterey Colonial and a classic Dutch Colonial. Each home has an abundant amount of planned privacy. Family Rooms are distinctly separate; children's parties or TV listening never interfere with other family activities. Dining Rooms are formal, elegant and separate. Kitchens are large, modern and convenient and are set apart to cutt off cooking odors and the view of after dinner dishes.

Every model has two fireplaces, each with specially designed mantles. Carefully chosen wallpapers, hand turned balustrades, and handsome lighting fixtures blend gracefully with the traditional decor.

Prices range from $41,950 to $46,500 with excellent financing. A convenient trade-in program for people presently owning a home is also available. To reach Traditional Homes, take Bayshore Freeway to the Millbrae turnoff to El Camino. Left on El Camino to Trousdale Boulevard, (first stop light) then right to models For more information, telephone 697-6008.

Today's Buyers Shopping

House buyers are shopping according to Stan Dorshkind, vice president of Proud Homes, builders of Ecco Park in San Ramon.

Dorshkind says his organization found that the first 50 purchasers of houses in Ecco Park had visited an average of six other subdivisions before buying.

Prices at Ecco Park begin at $18,250 for a three bedroom house with closing costs of $99.

Tiled entryways, raised hearth fireplaces of stone or brick and ash cabinets are among interior features while 19 different exterior styles are available.

Ecco Park may be reached from Oakland by taking Highway 50 to the intersection with Highway 21. From Highway 21 turn into San Ramon on Amador Valley Boulevard and follow that street to the models.

Saratoga's last luxury homes in this price range!

• Only a few more fortunate families will be able to make this superb home investment. Never again will homes of comparable quality be sold at these prices in Saratoga.

The reason is simple: increased land costs. Brown and Kauffmann purchased Prides Crossing acreage at the price of some years ago. Now only the last few homes and several choice lots for your custom home remain and are available at prices that can never again be duplicated.

Choose a two-story, single-story or split-level plan — your investment in any of these last Prides Crossing homes can only increase in value as your family enjoys its prize-winning design and good planning.

New Law Eases Home Ownership

Home ownership has been made more easily obtainable for the general public, servicemen, and farmers by the new federal housing law, E. E. Gustafson, president of the San Mateo-Burlingame Board of Realtors, pointed out today.

Few people are aware of the new benefits for which they were eligible under the law, since most of the publicity at the time of Congressional consideration and the signing by President Johnson in August concerned other features, said Gustafson.

Of interest to the general public is the law's reduction of the minimum down payment required for Federal Housing Administration-insured financing of homes appraised in excess of $20,000, said Gustafson, on the basis of information received from the National Association of Real Estate Boards of which the San Mateo-Burlingame board is a member.

Prior to the new law, the minimum down payment required for an FHA-insured loan under its Section 203(b) program was 3 per cent of the first $15,000 of appraised value, 10 per cent on that part of value from $15,000 to $20,000, and 25 per cent on value in excess of $20,000, he explained.

The new law reduces the down payment on the value above $20,000 to 20 per cent.

"In other words, formerly a house appraised at $30,000 would require a minimum down payment of $3,450. Now, the down payment will be $2,950—a reduction of $500," said Gustafson.

The maximum mortgage amount available under the FHA insurance program is $30,000 for a single family home, he said, adding that realtors in the San Mateo-Burlingame-Foster City-Hillsborough area had listings of houses in this price range, as well as complete details on the program.

Servicemen will benefit under the law by an increase in the maximum mortgage amount permissible and by lower down payments under another FHA insurance program solely for servicemen (Section 222), said the board of realtors president.

They can now obtain an FHA-insured mortgage loan up to $30,000, instead of $20,000 as formerly, with down payments the same as the above scale except that on the portion of value over $20,000 their down payment will be 15 per cent.

At Realtors' Meet

FEDERAL RESERVE EXPERT SPEAKS TO REALTORS — Gault W. Lynn, right, director of research for the Federal Reserve Bank, San Francisco, addressed members of the San Mateo-Burlingame Board of Realtors this week at a meeting attended by more than 300 members. "Controlling Our Money" was the speaker's topic. Irving Doughty, left, Grow & Doughty, San Mateo Realtors, was chairman and Andrew M. McKeown, center, Burlingame Realtor, vice president of the San Mateo-Burlingame Board and chairman of the Multiple Listing Division, presided. The Realtors presented Lynn with an etching of the Palace of Fine Arts as a token of their appreciation for his outstanding address.

A Preview Offered in San Bruno

The preview opening of their new Portola Highlands project has been announced for October 31 by the Challenge Homes developers. Four new models are being introduced in the secluded Peninsula foothills community, located in San Bruno, just 23 minutes from downtown San Francisco.

The unusual new model homes are being presented in one of the Bay Area's most outstanding model home compounds, according to Challenge Homes president Gordon Hanson. Surroundings are a completely grassed cul-de-sac creating a pleasant and relaxing atmoshpere for home selection, he said. The dramatic interior decor of the models provides an exciting "home furnishings show" for visitors.

All of the new homes offered in the Portola development are described by Hanson as "sophisticated designs zoned for family privacy." Each home is also individually oriented to the natural contour of its site to provide maximum exterior privacy and to add interest to the overall appearance of this suburban hillside community termed "a new point of view for family living."

Prices are from $27,500 to $32,000 for the large 3 and 4-bedroom homes with 2 and 3 baths. The architecturally designed "quiet zones" and "activity zones" include large family rooms and multi-use areas, master bedroom suites with private bath, and kitchens with large eating area. Large two-car garages provide easy access from the lower level in each plan and have adjacent laundry room space and the multi-use room area in some models.

Elegant entryways create immediate excitement in the new Portola Homes with easy-care floors in a choice of slate, quarry tile, or stone lite featured in every model. Massive fireplaces of latest custom design are built from slate and new or used brick. Kitchens include de luxe built-in appliances and large eating areas. Huge walk-in closets, rear deck and patio, fenced yards, and front lawns are also included with each Portola Highlands residence. The level side and back yards provide ideal family recreation areas.

In addition to their proximity to San Francisco, the new San Bruno homes are near neighborhood shopping and churches, with new larger elementary and high schools now under construction and school transportation furnished. Portola Highlands is located off Skyline Boulevard on Sneath Lane in San Bruno.

Great Things For House of the Future

CHICAGO — The home of the future may be round, square or irregularly shaped, but it will roll onto its prepared site over the roads of America after having been built in a factory, predicts F. L. Cappaert, president of Magnolia Homes, Vicksburg, Miss.

Within the next few years, rooms will be bought and added when needed and sold when that need is gone, Cappaert said. Homes will offer greater convenience, including floors that can be hosed down, walls that change color at the press of a button, individual heating and air-conditioning control in every room. Furniture that disappears when not wanted, and rooms of adjustable size and shape.

Units will be produced in any combination to provide the family with a home of the size, shape and design it desires.

For example, a young married couple might start out with three rooms — bedroom, living room and kitchen. When children come they might add one, two or as many bedrooms as necessary. They also might buy a den or a library.

Trade-In Value

All the units would have considerable trade-in or resale value, as do mobile homes today, so that when the children began to leave home the house can shrink back to its original size for couples about ready to retire, Cappaert said.

The equipment that goes into the home of the future will be "built-in," according to H. A. Riegelman, manager, built-in electronic products, General Electric Co., Ithaca, N. Y.

He foresees built-in closed circuit television, intercom, radio and stereo sets throughout the home.

The television receivers will be built-in, but they will be combined with portable cameras, which can be set up in the nursery when the baby naps or in the playroom when mother is in another part of the house.

Electronics

Electronic dishwashers will clean by bombarding dishes with electricity, Riegelman says. Appliances such as irons and electric mixers, that now have cords that get in the way, will have self-contained sources of power.

"The power unit will be plugged into the wall and recharged about once a year," Riegelman says. The same principle will be used in lamps, permitting area lighting on a coffee table in the center of a room, without worrying about tripping over cords.

Riegelman says electricity will be used in the future as "kiddie radar." A very inexpensive radarscope that covers a 10-block square will come with a grease pencil to sketch in streets, houses and playgrounds around the home.

A metal "reception tag" will be sewn into the child's clothing. When mother wants to find out where her child is, all she has to do is turn on the scope and follow the "beeps," Riegelman said.

"The City is potentially man's greatest work of art"

The planning, design and building of a complete new city calls upon the experience and talents of many people in many creative fields. Foster City, a new, master-planned community fifteen miles south of San Francisco, is a unique demonstration of the blending of these varied skills.

"Design of a City: Foster City," an exhibition at the San Francisco Museum of Art, October 22 through November 21, is a graphic presentation of the architectural accomplishments in the building of Foster City. The exhibition features the work of Mies van der Rohe, Edward Durell Stone and other distinguished architects and planners. The public is invited.

Beam Lighting

If building an open beamed ceiling for a family room-kitchen, plan to include luminous ceiling light panels between beams and positioned directly over kitchen work areas and reading corners in the family room. Alternating luminous panels with exposed western wood ceiling deck is most effective and practical.

Redwing Sales 'Phenomenal'

Redwing Valley, a new subdivision of best-selling, best-value homes, is experiencing phenomenal sales. According to the builder, these homes are among the most beautiful ever offered in the East Bay. The floor plans and details were selected from the most popular of all homes ever offered by the builder who has built more than 8,000 homes in California.

The model homes at Redwing Valley form a group of classic home styles adapted to the way people live today. The flavor and atmosphere of each home is different. Each style has been a favorite in California for many years. The floor plans are perfectly designed to make life easier and more pleasant for the family, and all are built to the high standards of American Housing Guild who have won virtually every important national award for design and construction.

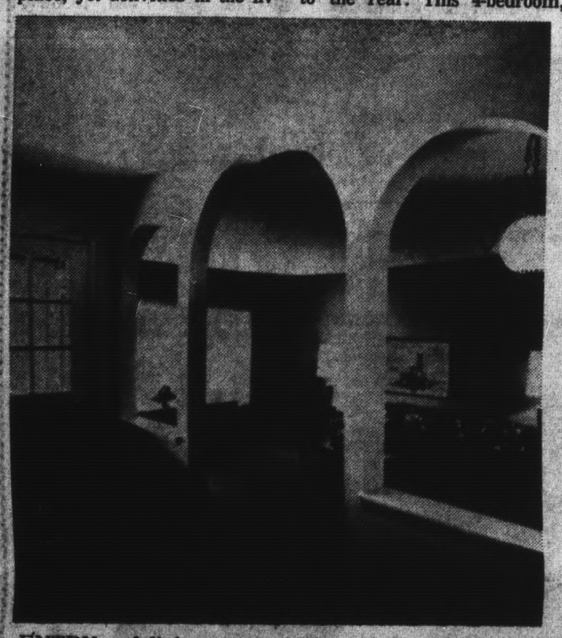
Four models are open for inspection:

The California Ranch model is a 3-bedroom, 2-bath home priced at $19,950, with an exceptionally convenient floor plan. As you enter, you get an intriguing glimpse of the rear garden-patio through the window wall next to the fireplace, yet activities in the living room and family room are hidden from view of callers. This entry hall provides easy access to any area of the house. The kitchen is placed between dining and family room making service convenient for either area.

The Old San Francisco, with 3 bedrooms and 2 baths, offers a floor plan with widely separated family room and living room to provide two independent acitvity area. The kitchen and breakfast nook are centrally located to serve both easily. This home also features a sunken living and dining room which opens directly off the entry hall. Both master bedroom and family room have their own sliding glass doors to patio and garden. This home is priced at $21,500.

From the large courtyard of The New Pacific you may step directly into the main entry or through the garage to the special entry to the bedroom wing, ideal for children. The large living and dining room overlooks the courtyard through floor-to-ceiling window walls, thus more than doubling the visual size of the room and providing an intimate garden view. A kitchen and breakfast nook are adjacent to the dining area and the family room to the rear. This 4-bedroom, 2-bath home sells for $21,950.

KITCHEN NOOK and family room in The Old San Francisco



ENTRY and living room of The Old San Francisco

For the large family, the 2-story Spanish Hacienda, provides 5 bedrooms and 2 baths. Four of the bedrooms are upstairs. The downstairs bedroom may be used also as a den or a guest room. Large family room has access to patio and garden through sliding glass doors. In the kitchen, a serving bar is ideal for entertaining and for children's meals. Upstairs, French doors lead from the master bedroom suite to an upstairs balcony. This home is priced at $23,950.

Among the many exceptional features offered by Redwing Valley homes are solid oak hardwood floors, optional shake roofs, built-in desks, hood and fans over built-in ranges, large double sinks, furniture-finished cabinets, silent switches and special lighting, large storage areas, and many other custom features usually found only in homes costing much more.

All Redwing Valley homes are available with excellent financing, either VA or no down payment, minimum down FHA, or conventional financing. Total closing cost is $99. In addition, the builder offers a guaranteed trade - in program.

The location of Redwing Valley in San Ramon Village is only minutes away on major freeways from San Francisco, Oakland and other cities, yet it provides every facility you need for everyday family living in a warm, suburban atmosphere. To reach Redwing Valley from the Peninsula, take the San Mateo bridge to the Nimitz Freeway and go north to Highway 50; then go east on Highway 50 to Highway 21 and turn left for San Ramon Village. Here turn right on Amador Valley Blvd., and follow the signs to the model homes. They are open every day from 10 until sundown. The sales office phone is 828-1420.

CALIFORNIA-STANFORD NOV. 20
For The Week's Best Entry

Send in your entry in the
FOOTBALL CONTEST
Sponsored by the Post-Times
Entries available every Tuesday and Wednesday in The Times; every Wednesday in The Post

RULES AND REGULATIONS

1. Select the winner of each game by placing an "X" in the box on the margin side of the team you think will win. If you predict the game will end in a tie, place an "X" only in the column headed "Ties" between the two teams. If the game ends in a tie, credit will only be given to contestants who predict the tie.
2. Write the total net yards (rushing and passing) that you think the S. F. 49'ers will make in Sunday's game in the box provided. (This estimate will only be used in case of ties between two contestants.)
3. Clip and mail the entry blank to:
FOOTBALL CONTEST
The Post
30 Park Plaza Dr.,
Daly City, Calif.
4. Entries must be postmarked prior to midnight Thursday of this week or delivered to The Times prior to midnight Thursday of this week. The Times is not responsible for entries lost, delayed or destroyed or which fail to reach The Times by 9:00 A.M. on Saturday.
5. To receive the cash prize the winner must pick all 15 games correctly. If the entry does not pick all games right, then the winner will receive 2 tickets to the Big Game, California vs. Stanford, on November 20. The previous week's contest cash prize will be added to the next week's contest if it is not distributed to a winner. This cash prize will be given to the winner of the final week's contest if it has not been distributed before. The final week's winner will not need to guess all 15 games to win the cash prize. In case ties cannot be broken between contestants by means of the tie-breaker, the prize will be divided equally. (This includes ties between contestants who pick 15 winners.)
6. A bonus of $50 will be given to each cash prize winner (not Big Game ticket winners) who is a home-delivered subscriber to The San Mateo Times or indicates immediate delivery of The Times is wanted. To qualify for this bonus, either of the boxes at the bottom of the entry blank must be checked. In the event two or more subscribers divide the contest cash prize, the bonus prize will be divided in the same manner.
7. Number of entries from one household is limited to fifteen (15) on official entry blanks but only one (1) exact sized facsimile of the official entry blank may be submitted. Submission of more than one facsimile in any one week will render all facsimilies submitted by that contestant void.
8. Entries may be attached to a postcard, mailed in an envelope or delivered by hand to the San Mateo or the Daly City offices of The Times.
9. Anyone may enter the contest except employes of The Times or immediate members of their family.
10. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decisions. All entries become the property of The Times, no answers may be returned. The Times reserves the right to correct any typographical errors in the entry blank which affect the outcome of the contest. Answers to the contest or winners' names will NOT be given out over the phone. Winners will be notified by The Times.
